ON Mira's Singing and Beauty.
Set by M' TURNER.

To the Hon^{ble} R. of BURLINGTON, these Four Plates are humbly inscribed,

Singing charms y^e Bleſſ'd above; Angels Sing & Saints ap-proue:
 All we below of Heavn can know, Is that they both Sing and Love.
 Is that they both Sing and Love..

² Mira hath an Angd'sell; Sweet her Notes, her Face as fair Valsals and Kings, — feel, when she Sings, — Charms of warbling Beauty near:	³ Savage Nature conquer'd by, All is Wonder and Surprise, Souls Expiring, — Hearts a Fireing, — By her charming Notes & Eyes.	⁴ Set the Viol and the Harp, Hang & molder till they warp; Let Flute and Lyre, In Dust Expire, — Shatter'd by a vocal Sharp.

Andante

The Charms of Florimel. No force of Time or Art Shall sever from my Heart; But ever to the world I'll tell, The charms of Beauteous Florimel.

S. tr. S.

Each Rock and sunny Hill,
The slow'ry Meads and Groves,
Shall say, Mirtillo loves;
And Echo shall be taught to tell
The charms, &c.

Each Tree within the Vale,
That on its Bark doth wear,
The Triumphs of my Fair;
To future Times in Verse shall tell
The charms, &c.

Each Brook, and purling Rill,
Shall, on its bubbling Stream,
Convey the Virgin's Name;
And as it rolls in Murmurs tell,
The charms, &c.

The Silvan Gods, that dwell,
Amidst this Sacred Grove,
Shall wonder at my love;
Whilst ev'ry sound conspires to tell,
The charms of Beauteous Florimel.

For the Flute:

S. tr. S.

I amo tanto.

I amo tanto o mio te so-ro. Che più a mar ti il cor non sa
 So much I love thee Oh my Treasure That my Flame no Bounds does know
 Volgi un guar do al mio mar... toro ed la Avrai..... di me pietà. D C
 Oh look upon your Inuin with pleasure For his pain some pi-ty shew.

Par-to si-da te mia vi-ta Ma date non parte il cor Il german tuo chiede ai-ta Il tuo bella mi chiede amor	Oh my Charmer tho. I leave you Yet my Heart with you remains Let not then my Absence grieve you Since with pride. I wear your Chains.

Flute part (top staff) and Bassoon part (bottom staff) for the flute piece.

The Going out in the Morning.

Hark away 'tis the merry ton'd Horn, calls the Hunters all up wth the Morn, to the Vivace

Hills and the woodlands ne'er Steer, to unharbour the out-lying Deer.
 Minuet. Chorus of Huntsmen.

And all the Day long, this this is our song, still hollowing and following so frolic and free, our joys know nobounds, while we're after the Hounds, no mortals on Earth are so jolly as we.

Round the Woods when we beat how we glow,
 While the Hills they all Echo Holo;
 With a Bounce from his Cover when he flies,
 Then our Shouts they resound to the Skies:
 (Chorus) And all the Day long &c.

When we sweep o'er the Valleys or climb,
 Up the Heath breathing Mountain Sublime,
 What a Joy from our Labours we feel,
 Which alone they who taste can reveal:
 (Chorus) And all the Day long &c.

For the Flute.

No. V Masons and Masonry.

To the R^t Hon^b the Earl of LOUDON; Grand Master; these 4 Plates are humbly inscribd.

By Masons Art y^e aspiring Dome, In various Columns shall arise,
 All climates are their native Home, Their godlike Actions mark y^e Skies:
 Heroes & Kings revere their Name, And Poets Sing their deathless Fame.

Great Generous, Noble, Wise and Brave,
 Are Titles they most justly claim;
 Their Deeds shall live beyond y^e grave,
 Which Babes unborn shall loud proclaim:
 Time shall their glorious Acts enroll,
 Whil'st Love and Friendship charms y^e soul.

The Slighted Lover.

Believe my Sighs my Tears my Dear, Believe y' Heart you've won, Believe my Vows to you Sincere, Or Moggy I'm Undone,
 You say I'm Fickle and apt to Change, At ev'ry Face that's new, Of all the Girls I ever saw, I ne'er Lov'd one but you.

My Heart was like a Lump of Ice, Then take & try me and you'll find,
 Till warm'd by your Bright Eye, That I've a Heart that's true,
 And then it kindled in a Trice Of all the Girls I ever saw
 A Flame that ne'er can die. I ne'er Lov'd One like You.

For the Flute.

Two staves of musical notation for the flute. The top staff uses a soprano C-clef, and the bottom staff uses an alto F-clef. Both staves are in common time. The music consists of six measures, each ending with a repeat sign and a double bar line, indicating a repeat of the previous section.

The Return from the Chace.

Set by M^r. Leveridge.

The sweet rosy Morn² peeps over the Hills, With Blushes adorning the Meadow^s & Fields; The merry merry merry Horn calls come come come away, Awake from your Slumber; and hail the new Day; the

The Stag rouz'd before us, ²
 Avay seems to fly,
 And pants to the Chorus
 Of Hounds in full Cry; ²
 Then follow follow follow follow
 The Musical Chace, ²
 Where Pleasure and vig'rous
 Health you embrace; ²

The Day's Sport when over,
 Makes Blood circle right,
 And gives the brisk Lover
 Fresh Charms for the Night.
 Then let us let us now enjoy
 All we can while we may,
 Let Love crown the Night,
 As our Sports crown y^e Day.

Andante

From

White's and Will's to purling Rills, The love-sick Strephon flies;

There full of woe, His numbers flow, And all in rhyme he dies.

Music score for two voices and piano, with lyrics. The vocal parts are in soprano and bass clef, and the piano part is in treble clef. Measure numbers 6, 7, 43, 6, 4, 5, 43 are indicated below the piano part.

The Fair Coquet,
With feign'd Regret,
Invites him back to Town;
But when in Tears
The Youth Appears,
She meets him with a frown.

Full oft the Maid
This Prank had play'd,
Till angry Strephon swore;
And what is strange,
Tho' loth to change,
Would never see her more.

For the Flute.

Music score for flute and piano. The piano part includes a 'Song' section.

THE Submissive Admirer

Set by Mr. Handel.

To the R^t Hon^{ble}. the Earl COWPER these Four Plates are humbly inscrib'd.
Within the Compass of the Voice

How is it possible, how can I for-bear? So many Charms all around you wear They ev'ry

Part hath such Power to move, Who see Admirer, & who knows you doth love, and who knows you doth

Love. In vain you do command a ... way Me-thinks to thee I'd e-----ver grow,

When You re-main, then must I Stay, When You depart, then must I go. D.C.

The Releif; or, Pow'r of Drinking

Set by M^r. Monro.

Since Drinking has Pow'r, for to give us Releif, Come fill up y^e Bowl, & a Pax on all grief.

If we find that won't do, We'll have such Another; And so We'll proceed from one Bowl to y^e

Other; Till like Sons of Apollo, We'll make our Wit Scar; Or in Homage to Bacchus fall down on y^e Floor.

Apollo and Bacchus were both merry Souls, —
They each of them lov'd for to toss off their Bowls; —
Then let's try to shew our selves Men of Merit, —
By toasting those Gods in a Bowl of good Claret, —
And then We shall all be deserving of Praise; —
But y^e Man that Drinks most, shall go off with y^e Rays.

The Despairing Lover.

Sym.

A Chain of Love de-spairing, thus wait his cruel fate, his grief y^e Shepherds sharing, in Circles round him sat. The Nymphs in kind compassion, the Luck less Lover Mournd; all who had felt y^e Passion, a Sigh for Sigh return'd: All who had felt y^e Passion, A Sigh for Sigh re-turned.

O Friends! your plaints give over,
Your kind Concern forbear.
Should Cloe hit discover,
For me you've shed a Tear.
Her Eyes shed Arm wth Vengeance,
Your friendship soon subdue.
Too late you'd ask forgiveness,
And for her Mercy sue.

III

Her Charms such force discover Resistance is in Vain.
Spight of your self you'd love her
And hug the Galling Chain.
Her wit the Flame increases,
And rivets fast the Dart.
She has ten thousand Graces,
And each would gain a Heart.

IV

But Oh! one more deserving
Has than'd her frozen Breast.
Her Heart for him preserving
She's odd to all the rest.
Their Love with Joy abounding
The thought distracts my brain.
O cruel Maid! then sounding
He fell upon the Plain.

THE Blind Boy.

O! Say, what is that Thing call'd light, which I can ne'er Enjoy;

What is the Blessing of the Sight, Oh! tell, tell your poor blind Boy.

2 You talk of wondrous things you see,
 You say the Sun shines bright;
I feel him warm but how can he,
Then make it Day or Night!

3 My Day or Night myself I make,
 When e'er I wake or play,
And could I ever keep awake—
It woud be always Day.

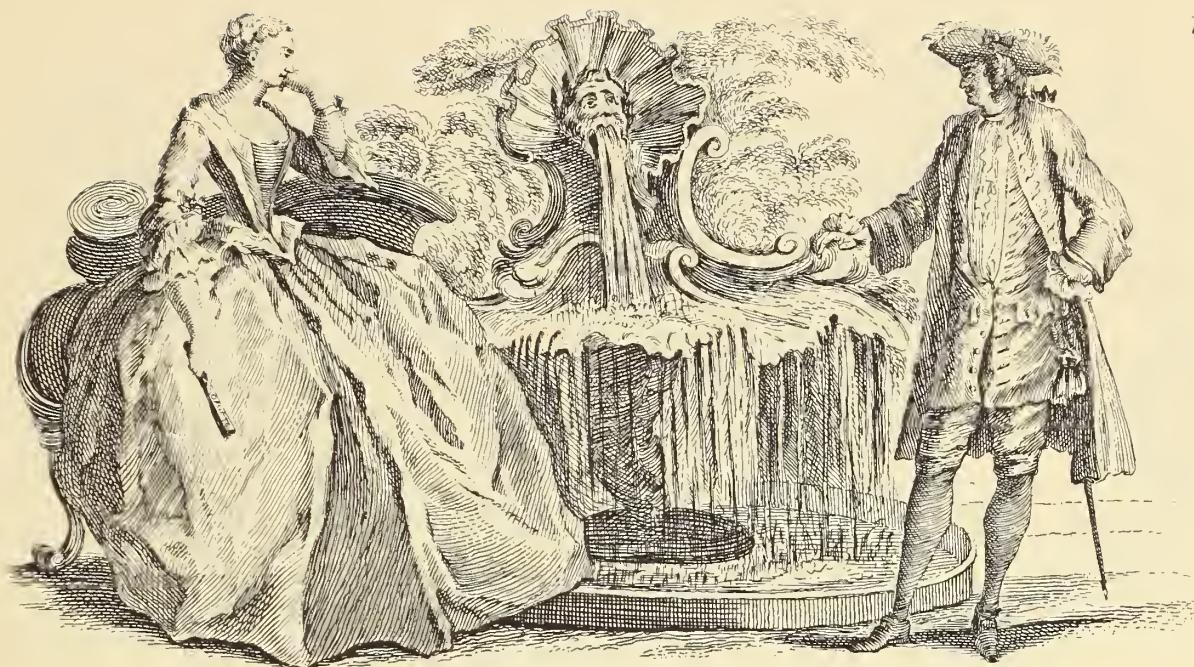

4 With heavy sighs I often hear—
 You mourn my hopeless Woe,
But sure with Patience I may bear
A Loss I ne'er can know.—

5 Then let not what I cannot have
 My Cheer of Mind destroy,
Whilst thus I sing I am a King,
Altho' a poor Blind Boy.—

Alexis, how artlef a Lover! how bashful & silly you grow! In my Eyes can you never discover I mean Yes, when I often say No, say No, I mean Yes, when I often say No?

When you pine, & you whine out your Passion
And only entreat for a Kiss,
To be coy, and deny is the Fashion
Alexis should ravish the Blifs.

If I frown, it's my Blushes to cover,
It's for Honour & Modesty sake;
He is but a Pityful Lover
Who is foiled by a Single Attack.

In Love as in War its but Reason
To make some Defence for y' Town,
To surrender without it were Treason,
Before that y' Outworks were won.

But when we by Force are o're-power'd
The best & the bravest must yield;
I am not to be won by a Coward
Who hardly dares enter y' Field.

Charming Cloe.

The Words by M^r. Jersey.

Set by M^r. Gladwin.

When charming Cloe gently walks, Or sweetly smiles, or gayly talks,
No Goddess can with her compare; So sweet her look, so soft her air.

In whom so many charms are plac'd
Is with a Mind as nobly grac'd,
With Sparkling Wit and Solid Sense.
And Soft persuasive Eloquence.

In framing her divinely fair,
Nature employ'd her utmost care,
That We in Cloe's form should find,
A Venus with Minerva's Mind.

THE Constant Lover.

Sweet are the Charms of Her, I love, more Fragrant than the Damask Rose, Soft as the Down of Turtle Dove; Gentle as Wind wh' Zephyr blows, &c.
 freshing as descending Rains, to Sunburnt Climes & thirsty Plains.
 True as the Needle to the Pole, —
 Or as the Dial to the Sun, —
 Constant as gliding Waters nowl,
 Whose swelling Tides obey y' Moon,
 From every other Charmer free, —
 My Life & Love shall follow thee.
 The Lamb the flowry Thyme devours,
 The Dam the tender Kid pursues,
 Sweet Philomel in shady Bowrs,
 Of verdant Spring her Note renew,
 All follow what they most admire,
 As I pursue my Soul's desire, —
 Nature must changher beautous Face
 And vary as the Seasons rise, —
 As Winter to the Spring gives place
 Summ'r th' approach of Autumn flies
 No Change of Love the Season bring;
 Love only knows perpetual Spring, —

Devouring Time with stealing Pace,
 Makes lofty Oaks and Cedars bow,
 And Marble Tombs & Walls of Brafs,
 In his rude March he levels low, —
 But time destroying far & wide,
 Love from the Soul can ne'er divide.
 Death only with his Cruel Dart
 The gentle God-head can remove,
 And drive him from y' Bleeding Heart
 To mingle with the Blest above, —
 Where known to all his Kindred Train,
 He finds a lasting Rest from Pain, —
 Love & his Sister fair, the Soul,
 Twin-born from Heav'n together came;
 Love will the Universe controul, —
 When dying, seasons lose their Name,
 Divine Abodes shall own his Pow'r,
 When Time & Death shall be no more.

THE Ravish'd Lover.

The Words by Mr Philip.

Bickham Sculp.

When Fanny Blooming fair, First met my ravish'd Sight, Caught th her Shape & Air, I felt a strange delight:

Whilst ea...gerly I gaz'd, Admiring ev'ry part, I ev'-ry Fea...ture prais'd, She stole in to my Heart.

In her bewitching Eyes,
Young smiling Loves appear,
There Cupid basking lyes
His Shafts are hoarded there,
Her Blooming Checks are dyd,
With Colour all their own,
Excelling Far the pride,
Of Ros'es newly Blown.

Her well turnid Limbs confels,
The lucky hand of Jove,
Her Features all expres
The Beauteous Queen of Love,
What Flames my Nerves invade,
When I behold the Breast,
Of that too lovely Maid,
Rise sueing to be prest.

Venus round Fanny's Waſte,
Hath her own Ceſtus bound,
With Guardian Cupids grac'd,
Who ſport the circle round,
How happy will he be,
Who ſhall her Zone unloofe,
That Blisſ to all but me,
May Heavn and ſhe refufe.

The Rival or Desponding Lover.

Of all the Torments all the Cares, By which our lives are curst,
 Of all the Sorrows that we bear, A Rival is the Worst.
 By Part-ners of A-no-ther Kind, Afflictions easier grow,
 In Love A-lone we hate to find, Companions of our woe.

Silvia, for all those Griefs you see, How're severe your Rigours are,
 Arising in my Breast; Alone with y^m. I'd Cope,
 I beg not that you'd pity me. — I can endure my own Despair,
 Would you but slight the rest. — But not another's Hope. —

THE MIDSUMMER WISH.

Not too fast Set by M'Carry

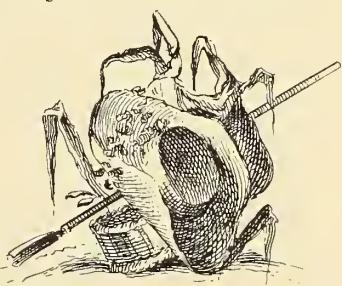

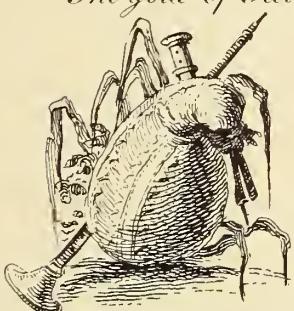

Waft me some soft and cooling Breeze to Windsor's shade^{tr} kind Retreat: Where Silvan
 Scenes wide spreading Trees, repel the raging Dog Star's Heat. Where tufted Grass & mossy Beds afford
 A rural calm Repose; Where Woodlives hang their den^y. Heads, & fragrant sweets around disclose

Old oozy Thames that flows fast by.
 Along the smiling l^ealley plays;
 His glassy Surface chears the Eye,
 And thro' the flowry Meadow strays.
 His fertile Banks with Herbage green,
 His Vale with golden Plenty swell:
 Where e'er his purer Stream is seen,
 The gods of Health and Pleasure dwell.

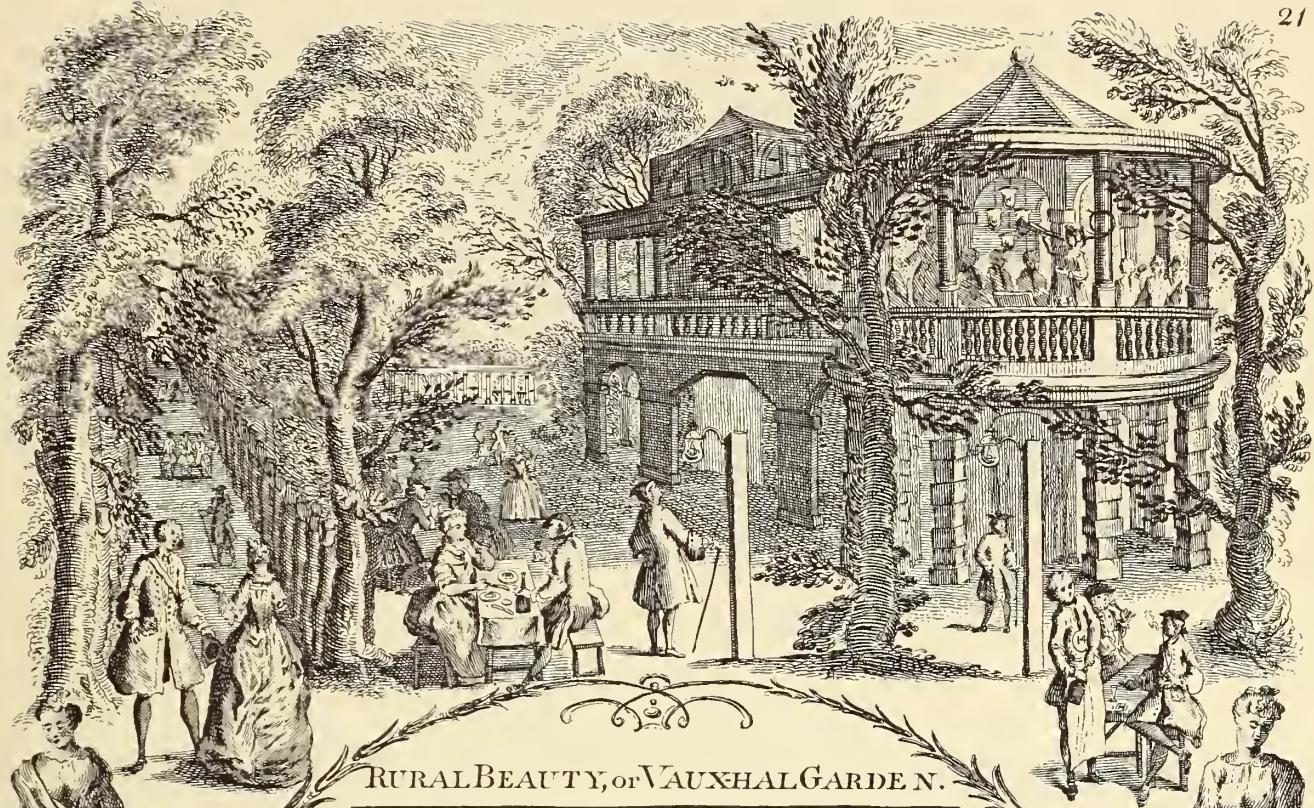

Let me thy Clear thy yielding Wave,
 With naked arm once more divide:
 In thee my glowing Bosom lare,
 And stem thy gently rolling Tide.
 Lay me with Damask Roses crown'd,
 Beneath some Ozier dusky shade:
 Where Water Lillies paint the Ground,
 And bubbling Springs refresh the glade.

Let chaste Clarinda too be there,
 With azure Mantle lightly drest:
 Ye Nymphs bind up her silken Hair,
 Ye Zephyrs fan her panting Breast.
 Oh! haste away fair Maid and bring
 The Muse the kindly Friend to Love;
 To Thee alone the Muse shall sing,
 And warble thro' the vocal Grove.

For the Flute.

RURAL BEAUTY, or VAUX-HAL GARDE N.

To the R^t Hon^l.d^r BALTIMORE. These four Plates are humbly Inscribd.

Flora, Goddes, sweetly blooming, Ever airy, ever gay; All her wonted Charms resuming

To Spring-Garden calls a way: With this blissful spot de lighted, Here y^e Queen of May retreats, Belles & Beaus are all in vriet, To partake of varied sweets. — To partake of varied sweets.

See a grand Pavillion yonder; — Lo! what Splendors round us darting,
Rising near embowering Shades, — Swift illume the charming Scene;
There a Temple striketh with wonder; — Chandeliars their light imparting.
In full view of Colonnades; — Pour fresh Beauties o'er y^e green,
Art and Natur (kindly lavish) — Glittering Lamps in order plunited,
Here their mingled Beauties yeld; — Strike the Eye with sweet Surprise:
Equal here the Pleasures revish, — Adam was not more enchanted
Of the Court and of the Field. — When he saw the Sun first rise.

Hark! what Heavily Notes descending, — Now the various Bands are seated,
Break upon the listening Ear: — All dispoſt in bright Array,
Musick all its graces lending: — Busines o'er, and cares retreated,
O 'tis Ecstasy to hear! — With soft Mirth they close y^e Day,
Nightingales the Concert joyning, — Thus of old the Sons of Pleasure,
Breathe their Plaint in melting Strains; — Pasp'd in Shades their favorite Hours,
Vanquish'd now their groves resigning, — (Never cheering their gay Leisure)
Soon they fly to distant Plains. — Blest by Love, and mixt with flow'rs.

The Words by M^r. Lockman
Set by M^r. Boyce

Charming Silvia.

Set by D^r Green.

The Nymph y' undoes me, is fair & unkind, No less than a Wonder by Nature design'd;

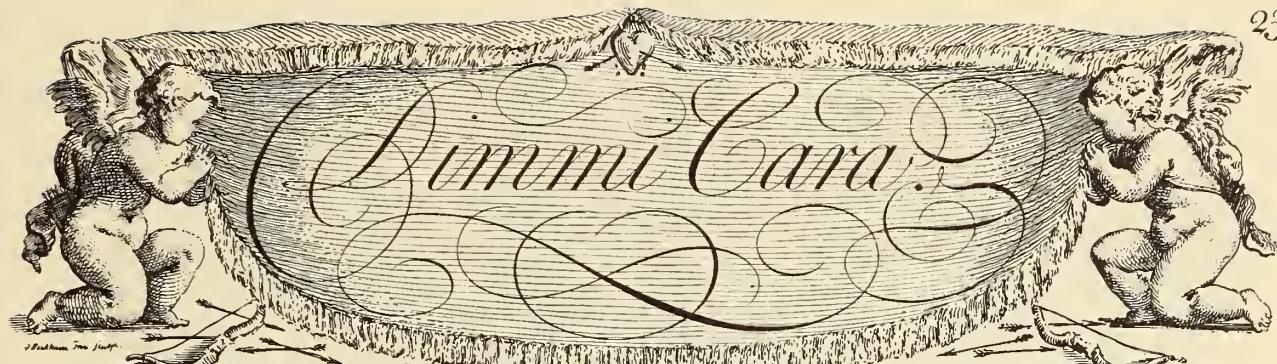

She's y' Grief of my Heart, y' Joy of my Eye, y' cause of a Flame, y' never am die, y' cause of a Flame, y' never am die.

Her Mouth from whence Wit still obligingly flows,
Has the beautiful Blush, and the Smell of the Rose;
Love and Destiny both attend on her Will,
She Wounds with a look with a Frown she can kill.

The desperate Lover can hope no Redress, —
Where Beauty and Rigour are both in Excess: —
In Silvia they meet; so unhappy am I,
Who sees her must love, & who loves her must die.

Song

Bickham Sculp,

Buckham sculp^r

Dear Chloe, while thus beyond Measure, You treat me with Doubts and Disdain, You rob all your Youth of its Pleasure, And hoard up an old Age of Pain. Your Maxim that Love is still founded, on Charms that will quickly decay: You'll find to be every ill grounded. When once you its Dictates obey.

(Musical notation for the first section of the song, with various time signatures and note heads.)

The Love that from Beauty is drawnn,
By kindness you ought to improve;
Soft looks and gay Smiles are the Darn,
Frui'tons the Sun Shine of Love:
And tho' the bright Beams of your Eyes
Should be clouded that now are so gay,
And Darknes obscure all the Skies,
You neer can forget it was Day.

Old Darby with Joan by his Side
You've often regarded with Wonder
He's Dropscall She is Dym ey'd
Yet they're ever uneasy asunder,
Together they totter about,
Or sit in the Sun at the Door,
And at Night when old Darby's Pots out
His Joan will not smoke a Whiff more.

No Beauty nor Wit they possess,
Their several Failings to smother;
Then what are the Charms can you guess,
That make them so fond of each other?
Tis the pleasing Remembrance of Youth,
The Endearments which Youth did bestow;
The Thoughts of past Pleasure and Truth,
The best of our Blessings below.

Those Traces for ever will last,
No Sickness or Time can remove;
For when Youth and Beauty are past,
And Age brings the Winter of Love:
A Friendship insensibly grows,
By Reviewers of such Raptures as these,
The current of Fondness still flows,
Which decrupsit old Age cannot freeze.

The musical score consists of five staves of music. The first staff shows a melody for a single instrument, likely a voice or a small string instrument. The second staff begins with a basso continuo line, indicated by a cello-like bassoon icon, with a treble line above it. The third staff continues the basso continuo line. The fourth staff begins with a basso continuo line, indicated by a double bass icon, with a treble line above it. The fifth staff concludes the vocal line with a basso continuo line, indicated by a double bass icon.

The inconstant Fair-One, Or Strephon's Complaint.

To her Grace the Duchess of Manchester, these Four Plates are humbly inscribd.

The Words by M Lockman.

How can you, lovely Nancy, thus cruelly slight,
A swain who is wretched when banish'd your sight;

Who for your sake alone thinks life worth his care,
But which soon, if you frown on, must end in Despair.

If you meant thus to torture, On why did your Eyes, —
Once a press so much softnes, & sweetly surprize! —
By their lustre inflam'd, I could not believe, —
As they shed such mild influence they e'er would exercise.

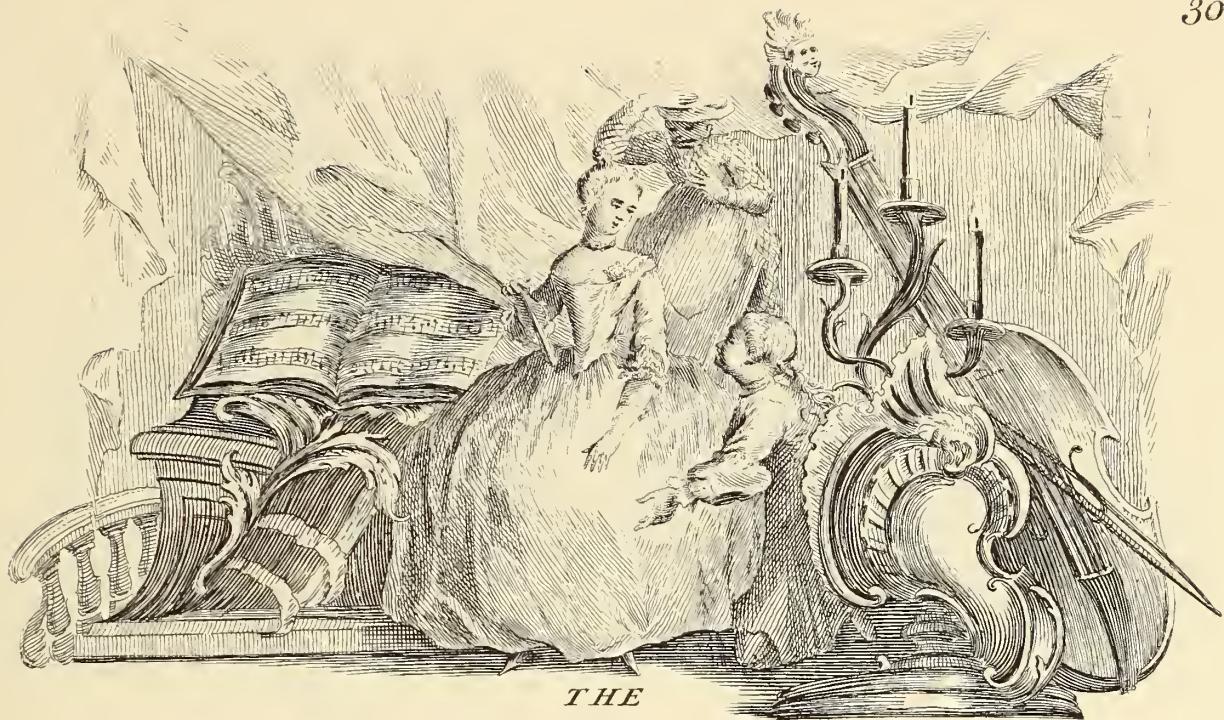

But alas! like y^e Pilgrim bewilder'd in Night, —
Who perceives a false Splendor at distance invite, —
Overjoy'd he hastens on, pursues it and Dies, —
Alas! Ruin attends me, if array Nancy flies. —

I forget not y^e Raptures you felt in my Arms, —
When you call'd me dear Angel, & unveil'd all your charms.
When you vow'd lasting Love, & wore with a Kiss, —
That in my fond Embraces was center'd all Bliss. —

Fairest, but most obdurate consider that Woe, —

That your Heart may relent, I implore y^e kind Powers
Since I'm constant as your Tax, be not Sickle as Ours.

Why will you add, Enchanting Fair,
The Magick of your Voice; —
By which in us you cause Despair,
Yet make our Fate our Choice. —

In Vain to tempt Laerte's heir,
The songs the Sirens try'd; —
But cou'd their notes with thine compare,
He must have heard and dy'd. —

Within y' compas of y^e Plate.

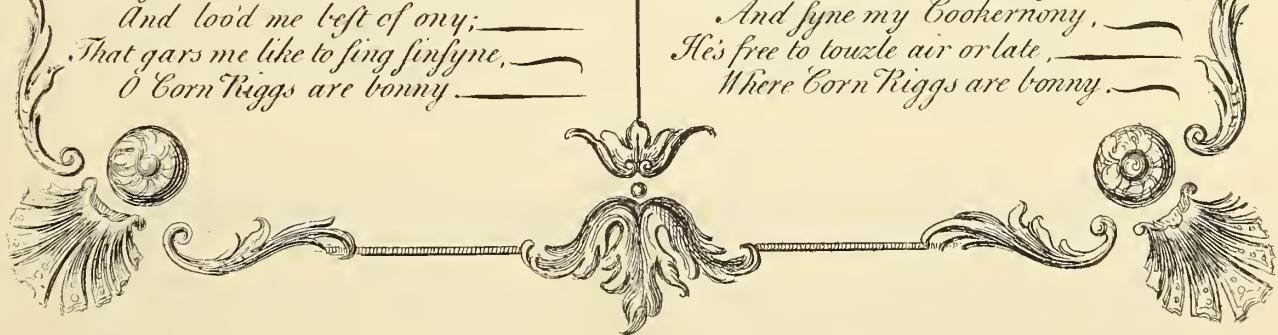

My Patie is a Lovergay, his Mind is never muddy, his Breath is sweeter than new hay, his Face is fair and ruddy. His Shape is handsom, middle size, he's stately in his wanking;

The Shining of his E'en surprize, 'tis Heaven to hear him tanking.

Last Night I met him on a Bank,
Where yellow Corn was growing.—
There mony a kindly Word he spake,—
That set my Heart a glowing.—
He kiss'd and vow'd he wad be mine,
And loo'd me best of ony;—
That gars me like to sing sin syne,
O Corn Riggs are bonny.—

Let Maidens of a silly Mind,
Refuse what maist they're wanting,
Since we for yielding are design'd.—
We chafly should be granting.—
Then I'll comply and marry Patie.—
And syne my Cookernony.—
He's free to touzle air or late,

THE Dream.

To the Right Hon the Marquis of CARNARVEN, these four Plates are humbly Inscrib'd.

Not too fast

Whilst I in Sleep last night was laid, Methought 'twas in a lonely Grove,

That I with Emma, beauteous Muid, walk'd happy, and discours'd of Love.

Sweet cruel Nymph,² said I reject
No more if Vows of one sincere;
If Love unsign'd you e'er expect,
To find in Man, you find it here.

Can Love in Man, said she, be true?
And dont their words belie their Mind?
Is not your Sex a perjur'd Crew,
Their promises ne'er made to bind?

Then I'll return with equal Fire,⁴
The love you shew your happy Fair,
Then shall the World our Loves admire
And say, Behold, one perfect pair.

With transport seiz'd, I gan to wake,
(grieving pursue, my Muse if Theme)
A perfect pair! O dire mistake!
I found such bliss is but a dream.

DAMON'S
Petition to Cupid.

Set by M^r. Popely.

Come little Cupid, God of Love, Each tender Passion gently move,
 With fondest Wishes, softest Pain; Exert thy courted pleasing Reign,
 Assist this present new Desire, And gently Fann y^e glowing Fire.

Then prunethy Silken Wings, & bear:
 These sounds to haughty Chloe's Ear;
 Capricious fair One, lay aside,
 Thy awk'wrd Coyneſ, hateful Pride;
 For know, that non's y^e happy Hour;
 That roving Damon owns thy pow'r.

Then quickly, Snatch thy golden Bow,
 Accept the Flame, receive the Won;
 Tell her, I rage, I smart, I die,
 Nor tell her, Boy, tis all a Lye;
 Yet tell her, if she will not Yield,
 To morrow Celia takes the Field.

The Cobler's End.

A Cobler there was, & he liv'd in a Stall, Which serv'd him for Parlour, for Kitchen & Hall; No Coin in his Pocket, nor Care in his Plate; No Ambition had he, nor Duns at his Gate. Derry down, down, down, derry down.

Contented he Work'd, & he thought himself Happy;
 If at Night, he could purchase a Jug of brown Nappy;
 He'd laugh then, & Whistle, & Sing to most sweet,
 Saying, just to a Hair, I've made both Ends meet.
 But Love, the Disturber of High and of Low,
 That Shoots at y^e Peasant, as well as y^e Beau;
 He Shot the poor Cobler quite thoro' the Heart,
 I wish it had hit some more ignoble Part.
 It was from a Window, this Archer did Play,
 Where a buxom young Damsel continually lay;
 Her Eyes shon so bright when she rose ery Day,
 That she shot y^e poor Cobler quite over the Way.

He sung her Love-Songs as he sat at his Work,
 But she was as hard as a Jew or a Turk;
 When ever he Spake, she would flounce & would stee,
 Which put the poor Cobler quite into Despair.
 He took up his Awl, that he had in y^e World,
 And to make away with himself was resolv'd,
 He pierc'd thro' his Body instead of the Soul,
 So the Cobler he dy'd, and y^e Bell it did toll.
 And now in good Will, I advise as a Friend,
 All Coblers take Notice of this Cobler's End.
 Keep your Hearts out of Love for we find by n^opawt,
 That Love brings us all to an End at the last.

Air and my Heart with her Cries.

I gently requested the Cause of her moan,
She told me her sweet Senesino was flown,
And in that sad Posture sh'd ever remain,
Unless the dear Charmer wou'd come back again.

Why who is this Mortal so Cruel said I,
That draws such a stream from so lovely an Eye,
To Beauty so blooming, what Man can be blind,
To Passion so tender, what Monster unkind.

Tis neither for Man, nor for Woman said she,
That thus in Lamenting I waver the lee,
My Warbler Celestial sweet Darling of fame,
Is a Shadow of something, a Six without Name.

Perhaps 'tis some Linnet, some Blackbird, said I,
Perhaps 'tis your Lark, that has soard to the sky;
Come dry up your Tear, and abandon your grief,
I'll bring you another, to give you relief.

No Linnet, no Blackbird, no Skylark, said she,
But one much more tunefull, by far than all three,
My sweet Senesino for whom thus I cry,
Is sweeter than all the wingd Songster's that fly.

Adieu Farinelli, Cuzzoni, Likenrise,

Adieu to the Opera, adieu to the Ball,

 And could all its Glories withstand. —

My Dear, he would oft to me say, —
 What makes you hard-hearted to me? —

 But now he is far from my Sight, —
 Perhaps new Advice may approve,
 Which makes me lament Day & Night,
 That ever I granted him Love. —

Whence comes it that y' shining Great, To Titles born & anful State, Thus condescend thus check their Wills, And scud away to Tunbridge Wells, To mix with vulgar Beaux & Belles. If e
 Sages your fam'd Glasses raise, Survey this Meteors dazzling Blaze, And say portends it Good or ill.

Soon as Aurora gilds the Skies,
 With brighter Charms y' Ladies rise,
 To dart forth Beams that save or kill.

 (Their lovely Features unsurvey'd)
 Sweet Negligence her Influence lend,
 And all y' artless Graces blends,

Behold y' Walks, a chequer'd Shade,
 In y' gay Pride of Green array'd;
 How bright y' Sun! y' Air how still!
 In wild confusion there we view,
 Red Ribbons groop'd with Aprons blew,
 Scapes, Curtizies, Nods, Winks, Smiles & Frowns,
 Lords, Milkmaids, Dutchesses and Clowns,
 In their all various Dishabille.

Thus, in the famous Age of Gold,
 (Not quite romantic tho' so old)
 Mankind were merely Jack & Gill.
 On flowry Banks, by murmuring Streams,
 They talk'd, walk'd, had pleasing Dreams,
 But dress'd indeed, like awkward Folks;

Why should I conceal my Passion,
Or the torments I endure; —
I'll disclose my Inclination, —
An'ful Distance yeilds no Cure.
Sure it is not in her Nature, —
To be Cruel to her Slave; —
She is to Divine a Creature, —
To Destroy what she can Save.

Happy he whose inclination, —
Warms but with a gentle heat,
Never flies up to a Passion; —
Loves a torment if too Great. —

But none that Loves you so.

How can they say that Nature,

Why then beneath the water,

No Eyes the Rocks discover,
That lurk beneath the Deep;
To wrack the wandring Lover,
And leave the Maid to Weep.

The Sailor's Complaint.

Come and listen to my Pity, all ye jolly Hearts of Gold; Lend a Brother Tarr your Pity, Who was once so stout &
 Bold. But the Arms of Cupid, alas! has made me rue; Sure true Love was ne'er so treated, As I am by scornful Sue.
 (2) (4)

When I landed first at Dover;
 She appear'd a Goddess bright;
 From Foreign Parts I was just come over;
 And was struck with so fair a sight:
 On the Shore pretty Sukey walked,
 Near to where our Frigate lay,
 And altho' so near the landing
 I, alas! was cast away.

(3)
 When first I had my pretty Creature,
 The delight of Land and Sea;
 No Man ever saw a sweeter
 I'd have kept her Company:
 I'd have fain made her my true Love,
 For Better or for Worse;
 But alas! I could not compass her,
 For to steer the Marriage Course.

Long I wonder'd why my Jewel,
 Had the Heart to use me so;
 Till I found by often sounding,
 She'd another Love in tow.

Once, no greater Joy and Pleasure,
 Cou'd have come into my Mind,
 Than to see the Bold Desp'nce,
 Sailing right before the Wind:
 O'er the white Waves as she danced,
 And her Colours gayly flew;
 But that was not half so charming,
 As the Trim of lovely Sue.

(5)
 On a rocky Coast I've driven,
 Where the stormy Winds do rise,
 Where the rowling Mountain-Billows,
 Lift a Vessel to the Skies:
 But from Land, or from the Ocean,
 Little dread I ever knew,
 When compared to the Dangers,
 In the Frowns of scornful Sue.

 So farewell hard hearted Sukey,
 I'll my Fortune seek at Sea,
 And try in a more friendly Latitude,
 Since I in yours cannot be.

A Girl when Inspired by me is Soon won;
So great are the motions of one of my Potions;
The Muses tho' maids I could n'thore ery one.

(3)
When mortals are fretted perplex'd or Indebted,
To me as a Father for Succour they cry;
In their sad Conditions I hear their Petitions,
A Bottle revives the Opprest Votary;
Then leave of your Tooting y' Fidling and Fluting,
Aside throw your Harp and now bow to a Flask;
My Joye they are Riper than songs from a Piper,
What Musick is Sweeter than sounding a Cask.

(4)
Says Phœbus this Fellow is Drunk sure or mellow,
To prize Musick less than Wine and October;
When those who love drinking are past thoughts of thinking,
And want so much wit as to keep themselves Sober.
As they were thus wrangling a widdling and Jangling,
Came buxom bright Venus to end the Dispute;
Says she now to ease ye Mars best of all play'd me,
When arm'd with a Bottle and Charm'd with a Flute.

(5)
Your musick has Charm'd me your wine has alarm'd me,
When I have Shew'd Coyne's and hard to be n'on;
When both have been moving I cou'd not help Loving,
And Wine has compleated what Musick begun.

Set by M^r Howard.

To the R.^t Hon.^{ble} the Earl Rockingham these Four Plates are humbly inscribd.

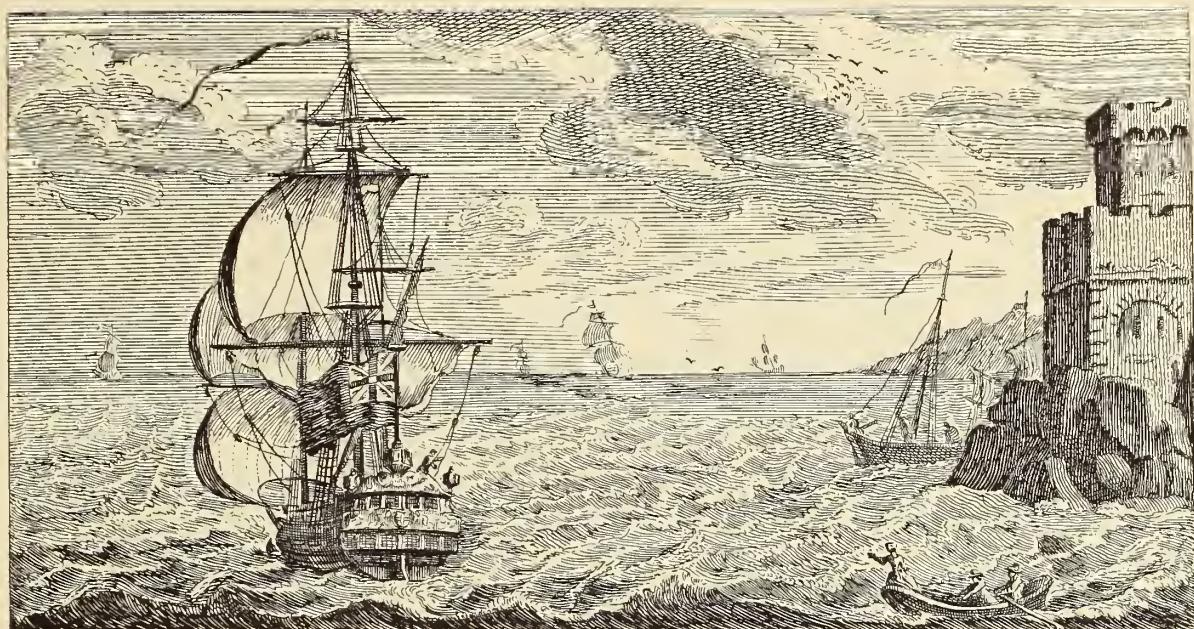

Tell me dear Charmer tell me why, all other Joys so quickly cloy all but the Joys of Loving thee, and

They alone I'm mortal be, they neither dull the Mind or Sense, nor loose their pleasing

Influence, they neither dull the Mind or Sense, nor lose their pleasing Influence

For ever I with fierce Desire,
Could gaze on thee and never tire,
My ravish'd Cars cou'd all Day long,
Feast on the Musick of thy Tongue;
And when that fails yet still on you,
I something find that's always new.

Adieu to Susan.

G. Buckham Jun. Sculp.

All in the downe the fleet was moord the streamers waving in the wind when black ey'd Susan came a board Oh where shall I my true Love find Tell me ye Jovial Sailors tell me true If my sweet William fails among the crew William who high upon the yard Rock'd with the billows to and fro Soon as her well known voice he heard He sigh'd and cast his Eyes below The cord slides swiftly thro his glowing hands And quick as lightning on the deck he stands To the sweet lark high pos'd in air Shuts close his Pinnions to his Breast If chance his mates shrill call he hears And drops at once into her Nest The noblest Captain in the British Fleet Might envy Williams Lips those Kisses sweet O! Susan Susan lovely dear My vows shall ever true remain Let me kiss off that falling tear We only part to meet again Change as ye like ye winds my heart shall be The faithfull compas that still points to thee Believe not what the land men say Who tempt with doubts thy constant mind They'll tell thee Sailors when awry

At every port a mistress find Yes Yes believe them when they tell thee so For thou art present wheresoever I go If to far Indias Coast we sail Thy eyes are seen in Dimonid bright Thy Breath w Africks Spicy Gale Thy skin is Ivory so white Thus evry beauteous Object that I view Wakes in my Soul some Charm of lovely Sue Though Battle calls me from thy Arms Let not my pretty Susan mourn Though Cannons roar yet safe from harms William shall to his Dear return Love turns aside the Balls that round me fly Lest precious tears should arop from Susan's Eye The Boatswain gave the dreadfull word The sails their swelling bosom spread No longer must she stay on board They kiss'd she sigh'd he hung his head Her leaping boat unwilling rows to Land Adieu she crys and wav'd her Lilly hand

Jenny's Lamentation.

3 * In a Bonny Lad were Sanney & Jockey. Sanney was lewd, but Jockey unlucky. Sanney was tall, well favoured & witty but

4 * Jockey was all, because he was pretty. For when he wood me, I wud me said me. Never was Lad so like to un dome

5 * Fye Jory d, almost dyed, least is should Rue me. If Jockey should gang and come no more to me.

*Jockey could love but he would not marry,
And I was afraid least I should miscarry:
His cunning tongue with Wit was so gilded,
That I was afraid least I might have ill did:
For when he Bleß'd me press'd me kiss'd me.
Lost was the Hour I thought when he miss'd me,
Crying denying and sighing I woud him,
And mickle ado I had to get from him.*

*But cruel fate rol'd me of my Jewel,
For Sanney wou'd make him to fight in a Duell.
Down in a Dale with Cypress surrounded,
Oh! there to his Death poor Jockey was wounded:
For when he fell'd him, thrill'd him, kill'd him.
Who can express my Grief that beheld him,
Sighing I tore my hair all for to bind him,
And wond'rd and swore I woud not stay behind him.*

*4 Thus Jenney for Jockey lay sighing and weeping,
For the loss of her Dear whilst others are sleeping;
And Sanney to see her thus sorely distressed,
For the loss of her Dear in his heart was Oppressed:
But when this Deluder wood her, said her.
She bid him be gone and call'd him Intruder;
And said should you die for my love I woud mock ye,
You have been the Cause of the Death of my Jockey.*

*Oh! Jockey there's none that is left to inherit,
The Tythe of thy Virtue thy wondrous Merit;
Thy Goodness by me shall neer be forgotten,
I'll sing out thy Praise when thy Carrall lays rotten.
For thou wert the fairest rarest and dearest,
And now thou art gone like a Saint thou appearest,
I'll have on thy Grave Stone this Motto inserted,
Here lies liseless Jockey who Dy'd broken hearted.*

Princess Amelia.

Set by D^r Greene.

To the Right Hon. the Earl RIVERS, these Four Plates are humbly inscribed.

Ye Nymphs of Bath prepare the Lay, Why why are you so slow to Pay? Amelia claims the Song:

But if you fear to wrong your Cause Go borrow from y Groud applause & rob the Publick Tongue

Sweet as her softly flowing Name,
Sweet is Amelia's rising Fame;
And as her Virtue Great:
Attend ye Nymphs the fav'rite sound,
And what from Shore to Shore goes round,
Let Avon's Banks repeat.

See, see, and sure you can no less,
See how the thronging People press!
Who, dwelling on her Face.
Cry, is she then of Brunswick's Line?
Are all like Her are all Divine?
And bless the Royal Race.

Encircled by our British Fair,
The boast of Nature and her Care!
Amelia charms alone;
And will it not your Ear amaze.
To hear ev'n vanquish'd Beauty praise.
And Pride to be out shone?

But chief our youthfull Heroes trace,
While humbly on that Form they gaze,
And tell us their surprise;
Yet how ye Nymphs can that be said?
No, no; let's be content to read
Their wonder in their Eyes.

C Cyprian Queen, He gaz'd, admurd, & lov'd: He lov'd alas! but lov'd in vain, & full of grief & care

C knew he never cou'd obtain . The lovely, charming fair, the love...by charming fair.

C Cloe deserved a better Swain;

He, not so fair a Bride:

Yet still he hugg'd the fatal Chain,

He lov'd despair'd and dy'd;

Take pity, then, thou charming Maid,

For Cloe's case is thine

I dare not ask so much I dread;

Must Damons fate be mine?

The Beautiful Charmer

Stella darling of the Muses, Fairer than the Blooming Spring; Sweetest Theme the Poet Chuses,
 When of Thee he strives to Sing, when of Thee He strives to Sing. While my Soul with Wonder Traces,
 All thy Charms of Face & Mind, All thy Beauties, all thy Graces of thy Sex in Thee I find, of thy Sex in Thee I find
 Love and Joy and Admiration,

In my Breast Alternate rise,
 Words no more can Paint my Passion,
 :S: Then the Pencil can thy Eyes. :S:
 Lavish Nature Thee adorning
 O'er thy Lips, and Cheeks hath spread;
 Colours that can Shame the Morning,
 :S: Smiling with Celestial Red. :S:

Pallas Venus too must never Boast their Charms triumphant sit;
 Stella bright! outvying ever,

 Lovely Scilla! their Ambition,

The POWER of MUSIC.

Music! How pow'rfull is thy Charm; That can if fiercest Rage disarm; Calm Passions in a human Breast and Lull e'en Jealousy to rest; With am'rous Thoughts, if Soul inspire Or kindle up a warlike Fire, so great is Music's Pow'r.

(2) (4)

Amphyion with his tunefull Lyre,
Coud Rocks remove, and Stones inspire;
Command a City to arise,
And lofty Buildings touch the Skies
While Stones, obedient to his call,
Harmonious mov'd and form'd a Wall,
So great isc Music's Pow'r.

(3)

Arion, from his Vessel cast,
In safety o'er the Seas he pass'd;
For mounted like the Ocean's God,
Upon a Dolphin's Back he rode;
Whilst Shoals of Fishes flock'd around,
Well-pleas'd, drank in y^e charming Sound
So great is Music's Pow'r.

Sad Orpheus through Hell's dreary Coast
Was seeking for his Consort lost,
His Music drew the Ghosts along
And Furies listen'd to his Song;
His Song cou'd Charon's Rage disarm,
And Pluto and his Consort charm,
So great is Music's Pow'r.

(5)

Inflam'd by Music Soldiers fight,
Inspir'd by Music Poets write.
Music can heal the lover's wounds
And Calm fierce Rage by gentle Sounds;
Philosophy attempts in vain,
What Music can with ease attain,
So great is Music's Pow'r.

The Judgment of Paris

To his Grace y^e Duke of RUTLAND These four Plates are humbly Inscrib'd.

When for a silly glitt'ring Toy, Three God-desses were in dispute;

Each try'd to bribe the gentle Boy, And gain the Gol-den Fruit.

To me, said Juno, give the Prize;
A Kingdom shall be your Reward:
I'll give you Wisdom Pallas cries,
More worthy your Regard.

She said: he bows & thus replies,
Goddess, I can't but take this part:
What King so great, what Sage so wise,
As He who rules a Heart!

Here Venus artfully step'd in;
My Present will more tempting prove:
A beauty promis'd, let Me win,
And quit all else for Love.

Like Paris I would scorn a Crown,
To Pow'r; or sordid Riches blind:
I'd Learning slight, my Books lay down,
Would Emma['] but be kind.

 She sets your even Teeth;
 With live Vermillion stains your Lip,
 With Nectar Dews your Breath.

When thus He deliver'd his Passion in pain.*

O! Joy of my Heart & Delight of my Eyes.
Sweet Jug tis for Thee faithfull Celadon dies;
My Pipe I've forsaken tho' reckon'd so sweet,
And sleeping and waking thy Name I repeat.

(3)

When Swains to an Alehouse by Force do me lug,
Instead of a Pitcher I call for a Jug:
And sure You can't chide at repeating your Name,
When the Nightingale every Night does the same.

Sweet Jug He a hundred Times ore does repeat.
Which makes People say that his Voice is so sweet:
Ah! why doest thou laugh at my sorronfull Tale,
Toonell I'm assur'd that my Words won't prevail.

(5)

For Roger the Thatcher possesses thy Breast,
As He at our last Harvest Supper confeß;
I orn it says Jug He has gotten my Heart,
His long Curling Hair looks so pretty & smart.

Generous Repulse.

The Words by A. Hill Esq.

Set by W' Carey.

Thy vain pursuit fond Youth give o'er, What more alas can Flavia do:
6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 5 3

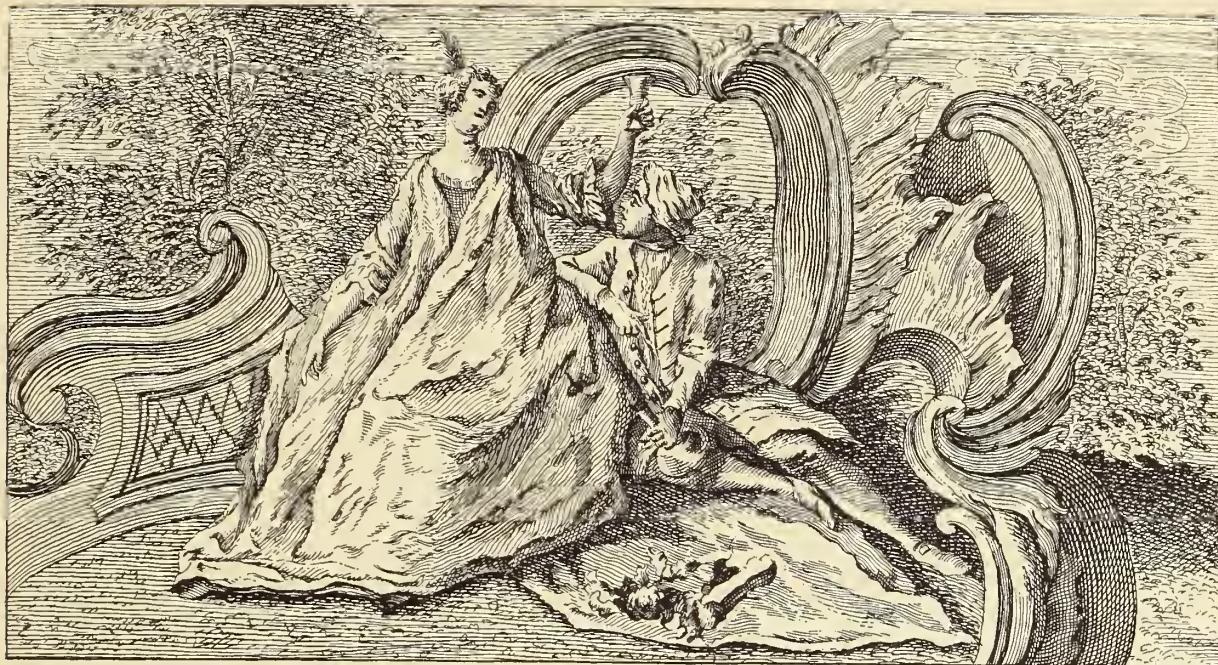

Thy worth I own thy fate deplore All are not happy that are true.
6 7 5b 5 6 6 6 6 6 5

Suppress thy sighs & weep no more
 Should Heav'n & Earth wth thee combine
 'Twere all in vain since any pow'r
 To Crown thy Love must alter mine.

But if revenge can ease thy pain
 I'll sooth the Ills I cannot cure
 Tell thee I drag a hopeless chain
 And all that I inflict endure.

The Inconstant.

Fair & soft & gay & young all Charms she play'd she danc'd she sung there was no way to scape the dart no care cou'd guard a Lovers Heart Ah why cry'd I and dropt a tear (Ado-ring yet despairing eer to have her to my self alone) was so much sweetness made for one.

But growning bolder in her Ear
 I in soft Numbers told my care
 She heard & rais'd me from her feet
 And seem'd to glow with equal heat
 Like Heav'n too mighty to express
 My Joys could be but knownn by gues
 Ah fool said I what have I done
 To wish her made for more than one.

But long I had not been in view
 Before her Eyes their Beams withdrew
 E'er I had reckon'd half her Charms
 She sunk into anothers Arms
 But she that once cou'd faithless be
 Will favour him no more than me
 He too will find himself undone
 And that she was not made for one.

FLUTE.

The Generous Lassie.

Ye Gales that gently wave the sea, & please the jolly Boatman, Bear me from hence, Or bring to me, My brave my bonny Scotman; In holy Bands, we joyn'd our Hands, Yet may not this dis... cover, While Parents rate, A large Estate, Before a faithful Lover.

But I would chuse in Highland Glens,
 To herd the Kid and Goat-man;
 E'er I could for such little Ends, —
 Refuse my bonny Scot-man;
 Wae worth y' Man, who first began,
 The base ungen'rous Fashion;
 From greedy Vienz Lovas Art to use,
 Whilst Strangers to its Passions.

From foreign Fields my lovely Youth,
 Hast to thy longing Lassie;
 Who pants to kiss thy balmy Mouth,
 And in her Bosom press thee:
 Love gives y' Word then hast on board,
 Fair Wind and gentle Boat-man;
 Waft o'er, waft o'er from yonder Shoar,
 My blith my bonny Scot man.

Love's Bacchanal.

The Words by M. Tho. Hundeshagen.

To y^e Right Hon^e Earl of WESTMORLAND These four Plates are humbly Inscribd.

Strephon why y^e Clou-dy Forehead Why so vain-ly croſſd those Arms? Silly Swain thy Aspect horrid Rather fright-ens her than charms Rouse each dull & droop-ing Spirit
Fling away thy Myrtle Wreath Bumbers large of gen-rous Claret makes thee love & Raptures breath.
Sacrifice this Juice prolifick To each Letter of her Name
Gods they deemid it a Specifick Why not Mortals do the same?
See the high-charg'd Goblet smiling Bids thee Strephon drink & prove Wine's the Liquor most beguiling Wine's the Weapon conquers Love.

The Dream.

Andante

Say love..by Dream where couldst thou find Shades to coun-ter-feit that Face
 Co..lours of that glo..rious kind Come not from a...ny Mor..tal place.

In heav'n it self thou sure wert drest
 With that Angel-like disguise
 Thus deluded I am blest
 And see my joy with closed Eyes
 But ah! this image is too kind
 To be other than a dream.
 Cruel Sacharissa's mind
 Ne'er put on that sweet extream
 Fair Dream if thou intendst me grace
 Change that heav'nly face of thine
 Paint despis'd love in thy face
 And make it to appear like mine.

Pale wan and meagre let it look
 With a pity-moving shape
 Such as wander by the Brook
 Of Lethe or from graves escape
 Then to that matchless Nymph appear
 In whose shape thou shinest so
 Softly in her sleeping Ear
 With humble words exp'ress my noe.
 Perhaps from greatness state and Pride
 Thus surprised she may fall
 Sleep does disproportion hide
 And Death resembling equals all.

Conquer'd Swain.

Divinest Fair Oh ease my Care And Charm the fondest In vain

No more deny But still Comply Give Love for Love again.

The Conquering dart | Has peir'd my Heart

With all thy wondrous Charms

Nor can I rest | Untill Possest

Enfolded in thy Arms.

On loosing their Toast and Butter.

The Words by M^r. Carey.

Set by M^r. Lampe.

Lar. But to hear y' Children mutter, w' they'd lost their Toast and Butter, And to see my La...dy moan, Oh!

t'w'ld melt a heart of Stone, a heart of Stone. But to hear the Chil.dren mutter, w' they'd lost their Toast & Butter, & to see my La...dy Moan, Oh! t'w'ld melt a heart of Stone, a Heart of Stone. Oh t'w'ld melt a heart of Stone.

all Here the Squire n^t Servants Wrangling, there y' Maids and Mistres jangling, and y' pretty hungry Dears all to gether by the Ears, scrambling for a Barley-Cake Oh! t'w'ld make one's heart to Ake. D.C.

The Dream.

To his Grace y^e DUKE of SOMERSET these four Plates are humbly Inscrib'd.

The Words by John Mottley Esq^r

When Night had set y^e World to rest, And mortal Cares appair'd, Strait was my longing thoughtfull Breast With Celiax Image seiz'd; had she appair'd yet, smiling too, Willing & yet afraid, She blusht and knew not what to do, But thus she sighing said:

Cease Strophen cease it must not be.
In vain you weep & sigh,
Talk not of Love or Flames to me,
For I must still deny:
Do but this nither'd Rosebud see,
How dead it does appear,
Before twas gather'd from y^e Tree
You thought it fresh & Fair.

False Men with studyd treachrous Arts,
Fond Innocence betray,
They talk of Charms & Flames & Darts,
But mean not what they say.
Yet ah! could Strophen faithful prove,
And constant to these Charms,
No more, said I, no more my Love
But clasp'd her in my Arms.

^{T H E}
Loving Fearful Nymph.

Ah! when charming Strephon's gone I sigh & think my self undone But when the lovely
 Youth is here I'm pleas'd yet grieve & hope yet fear Thoughtless of all but him I rove ah tell me is not this call'd Love ah tell me is not this call'd Love.

Ah me what pow'r can move me so
 I dye with grief when he must go
 But I revive at his return
 I smile I froze I pant I burn
 Transported so sweet so strong so new
 Say can they be to Friendship due
 Say can they be to Friendship due.

Ah no tis love tis now too plain
 I feel I feel the pleasing pain
 For who e'er saw bright Strephon's Eyes
 But wish'd & long'd & was his prize
 Gods if the truest may be blest
 O let him be by me possest
 O let him be by me possest.

For the Flute.

The Neglected Lass.

Farewell thou false Philander. Since now from me you rove; & leave me here to wander, No more to think of love; Must I forbear to languish. I must for ever mourn From Love. I now am banished and shall no more return.

Farewell deceitful Traytor;
Farewell thou perjur'd Swain;
Let never Injur'd Creature
Believe your von's again.

The passion you pretended
Was only to obtain;
For now the Charm is ended
The Charmer you disdain.
