

 Sonata per la Flauto
Traversiere e Basso di
J. S. Bach.

Di cagno ma non tanto. Det III 6, 5

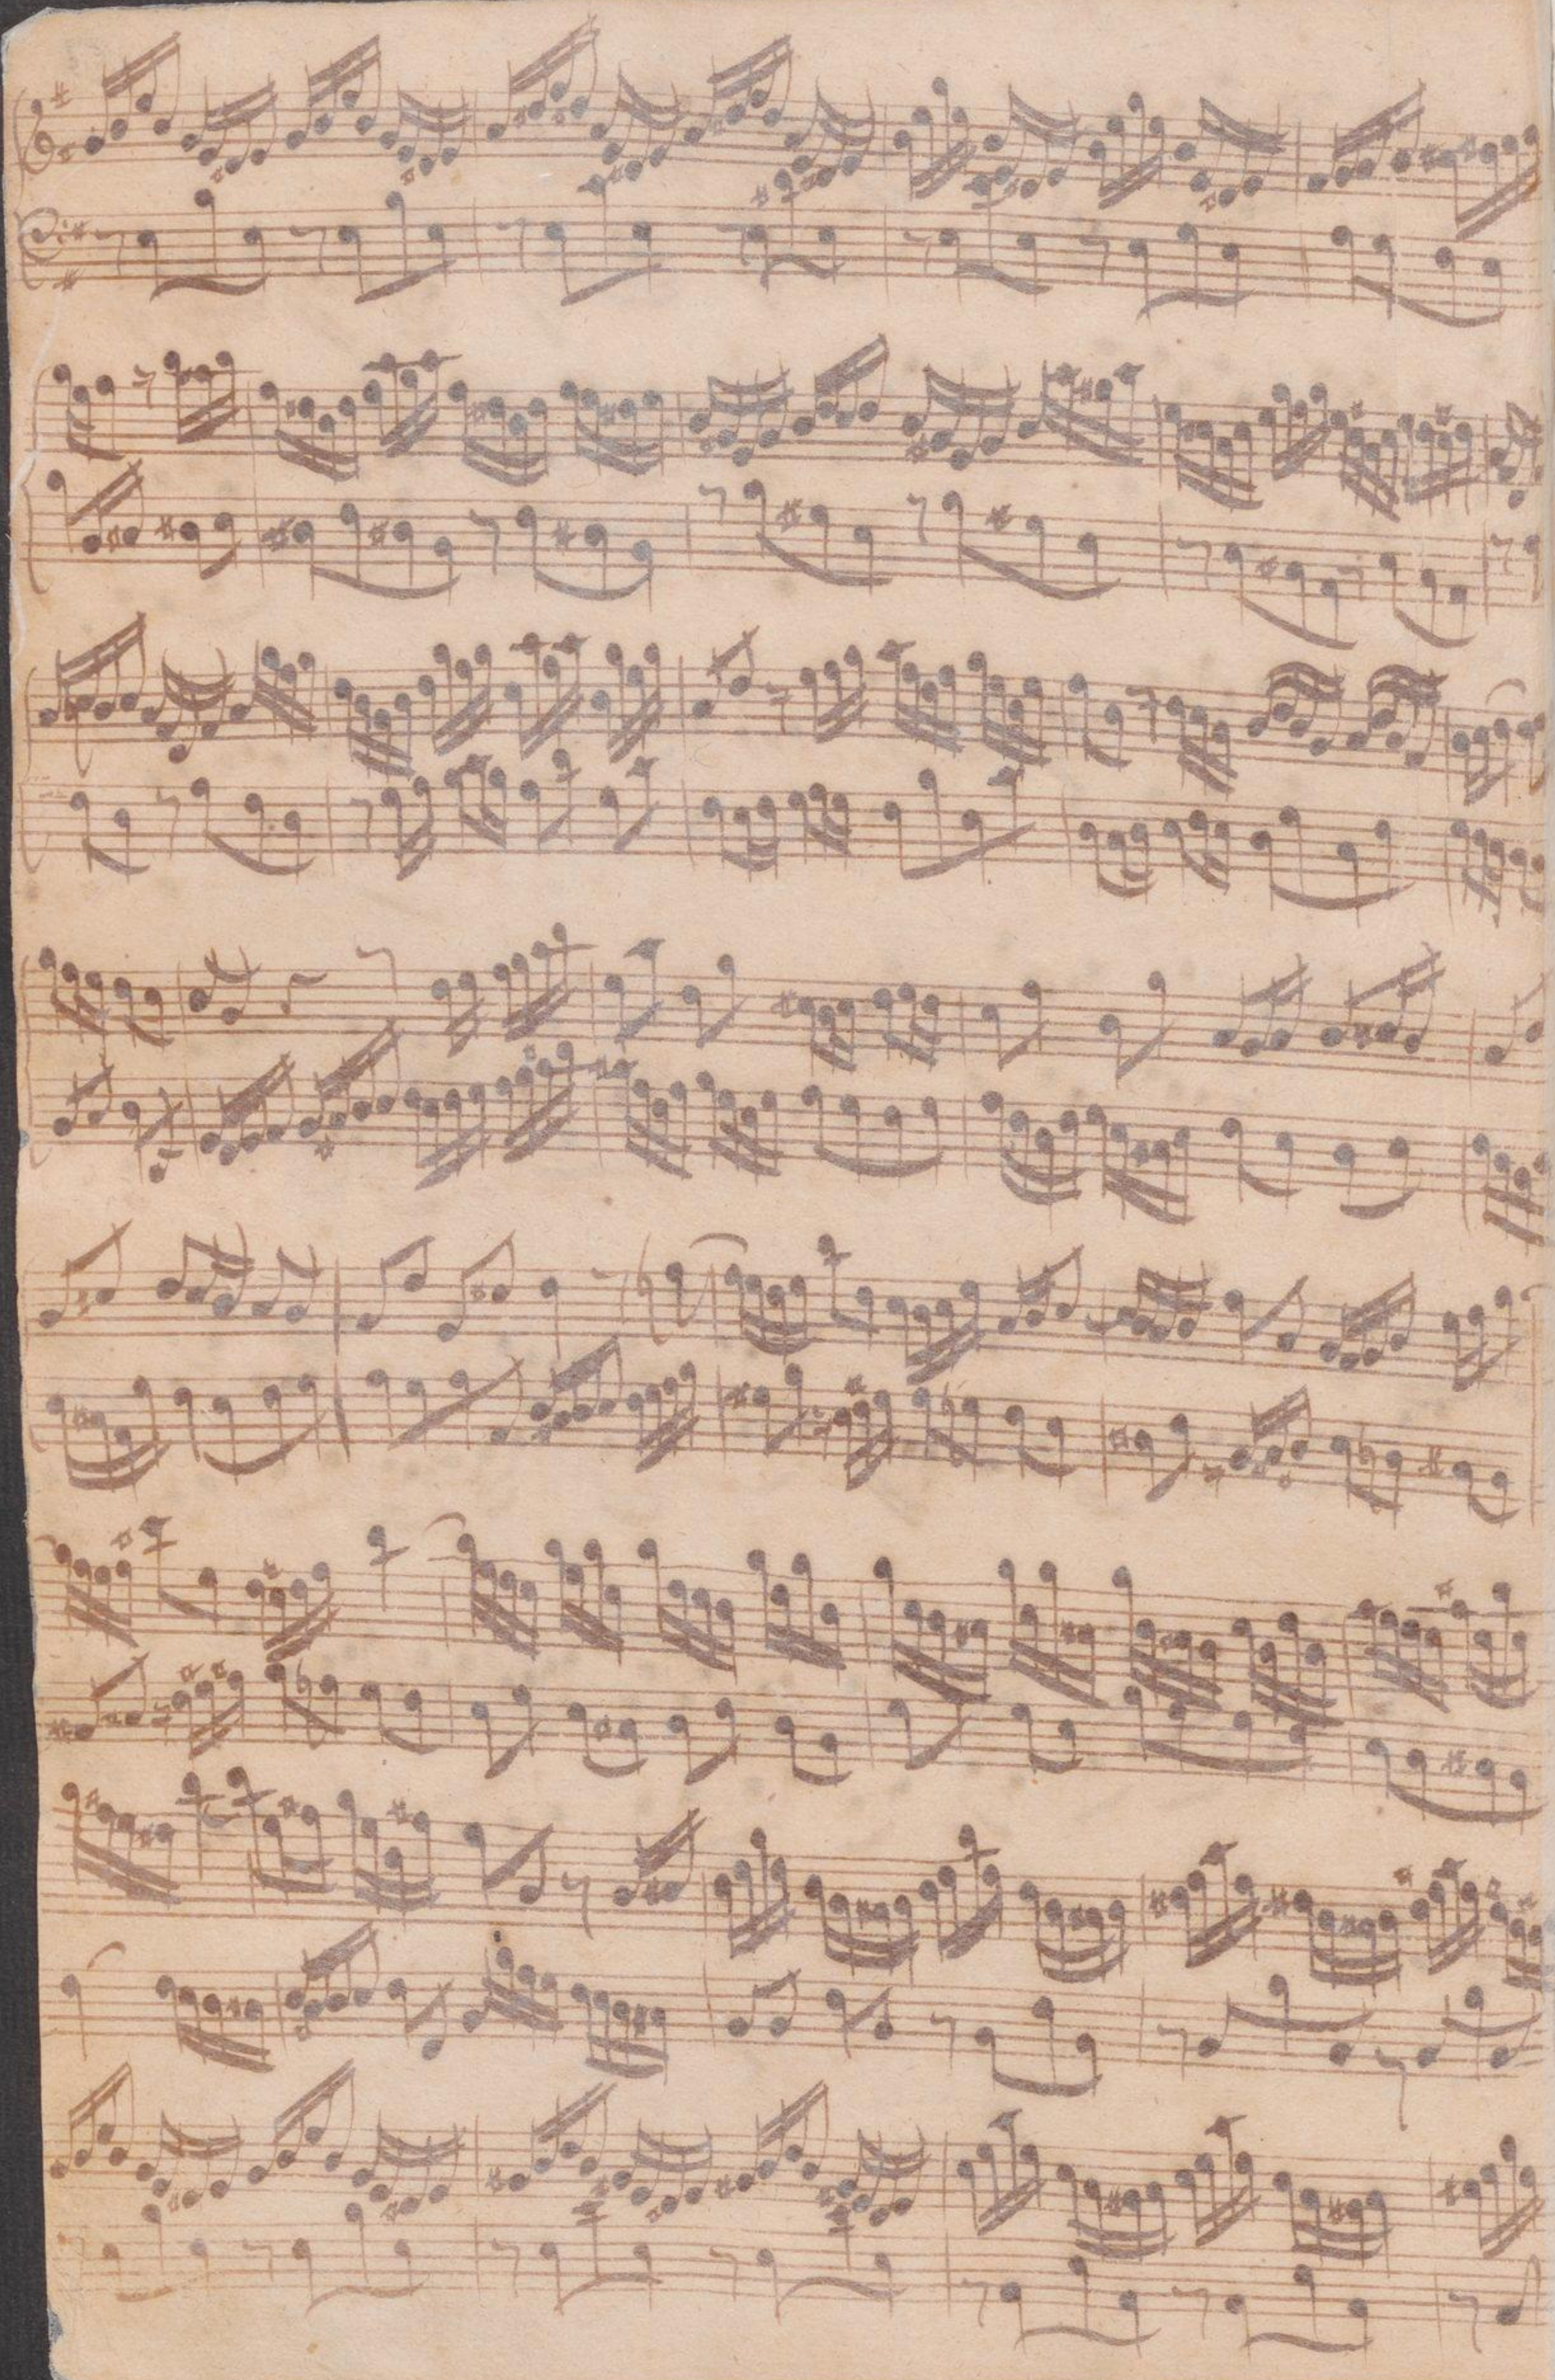

Handwritten musical notation on five staves. The notation is in brown ink on aged paper. It features a treble clef on the first staff, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a 9/8 time signature. The music consists of rapid sixteenth-note passages in both the upper and lower staves of each system.

Allegro.

Handwritten musical notation on five staves, continuing the piece. The notation remains in brown ink. The first staff of this section has a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature (C). The music continues with rapid sixteenth-note patterns, showing some variation in the lower staff's rhythm.

Verbe citissime

A handwritten musical score on ten staves. The notation is in brown ink on aged, slightly stained paper. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music consists of various note values, including eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together in groups. There are frequent slurs and ties across the staves. The notation is dense and somewhat cursive, typical of historical manuscript notation. The final staff contains a large, ornate initial 'I' and the word 'Vlti' written in a cursive hand, followed by a 3/4 time signature.

Andante. Sehr gut

Allegro.

153

This is a handwritten musical score on aged paper, consisting of two staves. The tempo is marked 'Allegro.' in the top left corner. The page is numbered '153' in the top right. The notation is dense and complex, featuring numerous beamed notes, slurs, and various musical symbols such as sharps, flats, and accidentals. The ink is dark brown or black. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and discoloration. The handwriting is fluid and characteristic of 18th or 19th-century musical notation. The score appears to be a single melodic line, possibly for a violin or flute, given the range and complexity of the notes.
