GENERELT FORORD

GENERAL PREFACE

The Carl Nielsen Edition is an independent project under the auspices of the Music Department of the Royal Library, launched in 1994 on the initiative of the Ministry of Culture and funded by the Ministry and the foundation Carl Nielsen og Anne Marie Carl-Nielsens Legat, with further financial support for the publication of the individual volumes from a number of other private foundations.

The edition is for both practical and scholarly use, and is based on critical editorial principles. It comprises all Carl Nielsen's finished works and completed individual pieces, and seeks as far as possible to reflect the works in the version last sanctioned by the composer. In cases where songs exist in several different arrangements by Carl Nielsen, all the versions are published.

Each work is furnished with an introduction which gives a brief account of the genesis of the work and its place in the composer's oeuvre, and a Critical Commentary including source description, editorial emendations and additions, and important alternative readings. The editorial material is published together with the music.

Works included in volumes with several independent works are also published in separate booklets. Part material is published for all the orchestral and chamber music works, and parts as well as piano score are published for the operas and the major choral works.

The edition is divided into the three main series Stage Music, Instrumental Music and Vocal Music, each further divided into volumes; within each genre the works are ordered chronologically.

Carl Nielsen Udgaven er et selvstændigt projekt under Det Kongelige Biblioteks Musikafdeling, iværksat i 1994 på Kulturministeriets foranledning og finansieret af Kulturministeriet og Carl Nielsen og Anne Marie Carl-Nielsens Legat, hvortil kommer støtte fra en række private fonde til udgivelse af de enkelte bind.

Udgaven er til såvel praktisk som videnskabelig brug, tilrettelagt efter kritisk-videnskabelige udgivelsesprincipper. Den omfatter samtlige Carl Nielsens afsluttede værker og enkeltsatser og søger i videst mulige omfang at afspejle værkerne i den af komponisten senest sanktionerede version. I tilfælde, hvor sange foreligger i flere forskellige arrangementer fra Carl Nielsens hånd, udgives alle versioner.

Hvert værk er forsynet med en indledning, der kort beskriver værkets tilblivelseshistorie og placerer det i den samlede produktion, samt en kritisk beretning, hvor der redegøres for kildesituationen, redaktionelle ændringer og tilføjelser og vigtige varianter. Den kritiske beretning udgives sammen med noteteksten.

Værker, der indgår i bind med flere selvstændige værker, udgives også i separate hæfter. Til alle orkester- og kammermusikværker udgives stemmemateriale, og til operaerne og de større korværker udgives såvel stemmer som klaverpartitur.

Udgaven er opdelt i hovedserierne Scenemusik, Instrumentalmusik og Vokalmusik med tilhørende opdeling i enkeltbind; inden for hver genre er værkerne ordnet kronologisk.

Editorial principles

The music is reproduced with no typographical indications of editorial additions or emendations. These will be documented in the Critical Commentary. Typography, score disposition, genre names, and instrument names have been normalized in accordance with present-day practice. With a few exceptions, discussed in more detail in the Critical Commentary, the many additions and changes in Carl Nielsen's works that have been made by friends and colleagues have been removed.

Articulation, dynamics, ties and slurs, execution markings and playing instructions have been normalized on the basis of analogies between clearly parallel passages. All such completions are documented in the Critical Commentary. Obvious writing and printing errors have been tacitly corrected.

Redaktionelle principper

Nodeteksten gengives uden typografisk markering af redaktionelle tilføjelser eller ændringer. Disse vil være dokumenteret i den kritiske beretning. Typografi, partituropstilling, instrument- og genrebetegnelser er normaliseret efter nutidig praksis. Med enkelte undtagelser, som der er gjort nærmere rede for i den kritiske beretning, er de mange tilføjelser og ændringer i Carl Niensens værker, der er foretaget af venner og kolleger, fjernet.

Nodeteksten er normaliseret med hensyn til artikulation, dynamik, buer, foredragsbetegnelser og spilletekniske anvisninger således, at der er analogi mellem entydige parallelsteder. Alle sådanne kompletteringer dokumenteres i den kritiske beretning. Oplagte skrive- og trykfejl er stiltiende rettet.

Carl Nielsen often notated horns and trumpets with key signatures. This practice has been normalized to a notation exclusively using accidentals.

“Muta in” in connection with the retuning of timpani and changes between two instruments (for example clarinet in A and B^b) have been tacitly normalized. This also applies to the combination of ties and slurs.

In Carl Nielsen’s manuscripts the dynamic markings are sometimes rather carelessly placed, and this is also reflected in the early printed editions. This has been tacitly adjusted.

Clefs are normally given as in the main source.

*Copenhagen 1998
The Carl Nielsen Edition*

Revised in 2003

Carl Nielsen noterede ofte horn og trompeter med faste fortegn. Denne praksis er normaliseret til notation udelukkende med løse fortegn.

“Muta in” i forbindelse med omstemning af pauker og skift mellem to instrumenter (f.eks. klarinet i A og B^b) er stiltiende normaliseret. Det samme gælder kombinationen af buer og bindebuer.

I Carl Nielsens manuskripter er de dynamiske angivelser undertiden placeret noget skødesløst, hvilket afspejler sig i de tidlige trykte udgaver. Dette er stiltiende justeret.

Nøgler gengives normalt som i hovedkilden.

PREFACE

The present volume consists of Carl Nielsen's chamber music for strings composed after his official debut as a composer with Suite for Strings in 1888; the earlier violin works, not least several individual quartet movements,¹ are featured in the Carl Nielsen Edition's concluding volume, Juvenilia, Addenda et Corrigenda. As will be evident from the following, the opus numbering of the four string quartets that Carl Nielsen himself published does not correspond to their order of composition, since opus 13² was written before opus 5. Besides the four quartets the volume includes the early string quintet as well as the two mature works for solo violin written for the composer's son-in-law, Emil Telmányi.³

The editorial work has been distributed among the editors as follows:

Lisbeth Ahlgren Jensen: String Quartets, opus 13 and opus 44.
Elly Bruunshuus Petersen: String Quartets, opus 5 and opus 14 and String Quintet.

Kirsten Flensburg Petersen: Prelude, Theme and Variations, opus 48 and Preludio e Presto, opus 52.

PRELUDE, THEME AND VARIATIONS FOR SOLO VIOLIN, OPUS 48

The period 1921-1922 was very productive for Carl Nielsen. Three of his major compositions saw their first performance in 1922: Symphony no. 5 on 24th January, Springtime on Funen on 8th July and Quintet for Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, French Horn and Bassoon on 9th October. He also wrote Homage to Holberg for soloists, choir and orchestra – a less substantial work than

- 1 There is a complete quartet and a number of movements that probably once made up a complete multi-movement work.
 - 2 Although opus 13 also belongs among the composer's juvenilia it is published in this volume since Carl Nielsen had it printed in a revised version in 1900.
 - 3 Danish-Hungarian violinist (1892-1988).

Nærværende bind indeholder Carl Niensens kammermusik for strygere, komponeret efter hans officielle komponistdebut med Suite for Strygere i 1888; de tidligere violinværker, ikke mindst adskillige kvartetsatser,¹ bringes i det afsluttende bind, Juvenilia, Addenda et Corrigenda.

Som det fremgår af efterfølgende, svarer opusnummereringen af de fire strygekvartetter, som Carl Nielsen selv lod udgive, ikke til deres tilblivelsestidspunkt, idet opus 13² er skrevet før opus 5. Udover de fire kvartetter bringes den tidlige strygekvintet samt de to modne værker for soloviolin skrevet til komponistens svigersøn, Emil Telmányi.³

Det redaktionelle arbejde har været fordelt mellem udgiverne således:

Lisbeth Ahlgren Jensen: Strygekvartet opus 13 og opus 44.
Elly Bruunshuus Petersen: Strygekvartet opus 5 og opus 14 samt strygekvintet.

Kirsten Flensburg Petersen: Præludium og Tema med Variationer opus 48 og Preludio e Presto opus 52.

PRÆLUDIUM OG TEMA MED VARIATIONER FOR SOLOVIOLIN, OPUS 48

Perioden 1921-1922 var meget produktive år for Carl Nielsen. Tre af hans store kompositioner fik deres første opførelse i 1922: Symfoni nr. 5 den 24. januar, Fynsk Foraar den 8. juli og Kvintet for fløjte, obo, klarinet, horn og fagot den 9. oktober. Hertil kommer et i forhold til Fynsk Foraar mindre omfangsrigt værk: Hyldest til Holberg for soli, kor og orkester, som blev uropført den 26. november. I tidsrummet mellem uropførelsen af blæser-

- 1 Det drejer sig om en række enkeltstående satser, en komplet kvartet samt om satser, der formentlig har udgjort et fuldstændigt, flersatset værk.
 - 2 Selvom også opus 13 hører til blandt komponistens Juvenilia bringes den i dette bind, eftersom Carl Nielsen lod den trykke i en revideret version i år 1900.
 - 3 Dansk-ungarsk violinist (1892-1988).

Most of the editorial work has consisted of completing the dynamics and articulation on the premises of the main source, but the draft has been consulted in cases of doubt.

QUARTET FOR TWO VIOLINS,
VIOLA AND CELLO IN F MAJOR,
OPUS 44

Between two major achievements in dramatic music, the opera Masquerade and the music for Holger Drachmann's melodrama Sir Oluf He Rides – (Hr. Oluf, han rider –), Carl Nielsen composed a chamber music work, the string quartet in F major. The first two movements of the quartet are dated at the beginning of 1906, 9th February and 21st March respectively, while the last two movements were finished in the summer and are end-dated 21st June and 2nd July 1906.

The quartet was given its first performance in private during Carl Nielsen's summer holiday stay with the landowner couple Viggo and Bodil Neergaard at their estate Fuglsang on the island of Lolland. Carl Nielsen had spent the first part of the summer in his summer cottage at Skagen, and from there he wrote on 26th July 1906 to Bodil Neergaard:

“Just before I travelled from Copenhagen I completed a new string quartet; I have had the parts written out and am thus taking them with me to christen them with you. It will be amusing to hear and see Röntgen's new composition; and then Brucken-Fock!”¹⁵¹

The quartet was thus given its first performance in the company of good friends at Fuglsang, apparently to the full satisfaction of the composer:

“Today we have played my new quartet and it sounds as I had expected; after all I am becoming quite familiar with the true nature of the string instruments. It is amazing how many years you have to coax and cajole such a delicate creature as a string

Revisionsarbejdet har i øvrigt for størstedelen bestået af komplettering af dynamik og artikulation, hvilket er gjort på hovedkildens egne præmisser, mens kladden har været konsulteret i tvivlstilfælde.

KVARTET FOR TO VIOLINER,
BRATSCH OG CELLO I F DUR,
OPUS 44

I mellem de to store musikdramatiske præstationer, operaen Maskarade og skuespilmusikken til Holger Drachmanns melodrama Hr. Oluf, han rider -, tog Carl Nielsen sig tid til at komponere et kammermusikalsk værk, nemlig strygekvartetten i F-dur. De to første satser af kvartetten er dateret i begyndelsen af 1906, hhv. 9. februar og 21. marts, mens de to sidste satser blev færdige om sommeren og er slutdateret 21. juni og 2. juli 1906.

Kvartetten fik sin første opførelse under private former under Carl Niensens sommerferieophold hos godsejerparret Viggo og Bodil Neergaard på Fuglsang på Lolland. Første del af sommeren havde Carl Nielsen tilbragt i sit sommerhus på Skagen, og herfra skrev han den 26. juli 1906 til Bodil Neergaard:

Kvartetten blev altså førsteopført i gode venners lag på Fuglsang, tilsyneladende til komponistens fulde tilfredshed:

“Vi har i dag spillet min nye Kvartet og den klinger som jeg havde ventet mig; jeg kjender jo nu snart Strygeinstrumenternes sande Væsen. Forresten er det forunderligt som man i mange Aar skal lokke og kjæle for et saa sart Væsen som en quartet before she gives in. Only now do I think I have more or less got the hang of its coy, chaste character.”¹⁵²

On 30th November 1907 the work was given its first public performance in Carl Nielsen's composition concert in the small hall of the Odd Fellow Palæ.¹⁵³ The reception was rather mixed. In Vort Land the reviewer Robert Henriques was surprised that the composer had such a broad expressive range:

“If a man who did not already know anything of Carl Nielsen heard his new string quartet in F major and immediately afterwards his melody for Jeppe Aakjær's brilliant poem 'Jens Vejmand', he would swear that these two things had not been written by the same composer [...] In his songs Carl Nielsen as a rule evokes only one mood. He is either sensitive or witty. But in his chamber music he plays on all the registers of his temperament [...]

His last string quartet in F major is, on first acquaintance, not as immediately charming as the F minor quartet, but both pieces have the advantage that the second subject of the final movement is refreshingly natural and of seductive grace. In the first movement of the new quartet one immediately admires the polyphonic dexterity with which the composer expresses himself and the merry bird-tweeting sound that gives the piece its own tone. Unlike this fresh approach, the Andante is a piece of cathedral music in the pure Johannes Jørgensen vein, often atmospheric but a little elaborate. It is succeeded by a graceful Allegretto, which wittily cheats the listeners out of anything obvious, yet still does not depart from what is possible to grasp. And then the final movement ends the piece in full harmony with an overall impression that leaves one wanting to renew one's acquaintance with the interesting work, whose satisfying performance is due to Messrs. Ludvig Holm, Schiørring, Sandby and Ernst Høeberg.”¹⁵⁴

Nationaltidende regarded the quartet as “a new example of the composer's urge to go his own way”, but also declared that “the value of the musical sustenance was not in reasonable proportion.”¹⁵²

Den 30. november 1907 fik værket sin første offentlige opførelse ved Carl Niensens kompositionskoncert i Odd Fellow Palæets Mindre Sal.¹⁵³ Modtagelsen var temmelig blandet. I Vort Land undrede anmelderen Robert Henriques sig over, at komponisten besad en så stor udtrykmæssig spændvidde:

“Hvis en Mand, der ikke i Forvejen kendte noget af Carl Nielsen, hørte hans ny Strygekvartet i F-Dur og umiddelbart efter hans Melodi til Jeppe Aakjærs brillante Digt 'Jens Vejmand', vilde han forsørge, at disse to Ting var skrevet af den samme Komponist. [...] I sine Sange anslaaer Carl Nielsen som Regel kun én Stemning. Han er enten følsom eller vittig. Men i sin Kammermusik spiller han paa alle Registerne af sit Temperament. [...]

Hans sidste Strygekvartet i F-Dur er ved første Bekendtskab ikke saa umiddelbart charmerende som F-moll-Kvartetten, men begge Stykker har den Fordel, at Finalens Sidemotiv er af forfriskende Naturlighed og indsmigrende Ynde. I den ny Kvartetens Førstesats beundrer man strax den polyfone behændighed, hvormed Komponisten udtrykker sig og den muntre, fuglekvidrende Klang, der giver Stykket sin egen Tone. I Modsætning til dette friske Anslag er Andanten et Stykke Domkirke-Musik i Johannes Jørgensens Renkultur, ofte stemningsfuld, men lidt vidtspunden. Den afløses af en gratiøs Allegretto, der vittigt narrer Tilhørerne for alle Selvfølgeligheder, men alligevel ikke viger udenom, hvad der er overkommeligt at tilegne sig. Og saa slutter Finalen Stykket af i fuld Harmoni med et Helhedsindtryk, der ønsker fornyet Bekendtskab med det interessante Værk, hvis tilfredsstillende Udførelse skyldtes d'Hrr. Ludvig Holm, Schiørring, Sandby og Ernst Høeberg.”¹⁵⁴

Nationaltidende betragtede kvartetten som “et nyt Udslag af Komponistens Trang til at gaa sine egne Veje”, men erklærede også, at “den musikalske Nærings værdi ikke stod i rimeligt

tion to the labour applied and the contrapuntal invention mustered.”¹⁵⁵ Dannebrog emphasized Carl Nielsen’s “usual meticulousness in the elaboration” of the string quartet and continued:

“There was most swing and dash in the two last movements of the quartet. The first two were dry as dust. Unfortunately one missed inner warmth, song and profound musical content in the new composition. But in the Allegretto there was a certain distinguished coolness and grace that not just anyone could produce.”¹⁵⁶

The most detailed discussion could be read in Politiken, where the reviewer Charles Kjerulf¹⁵⁷ certainly did not care for the quartet:

“The first item on the programme was a new string quartet in F major, with the designation ‘Piacvolezza’. To cap this the first movement had the tempo marking ‘Allegro piacevole ed indolente.’ Now whether the composer wants the label to be understood as ‘pleasing’ or ‘as you please’, after hearing the quartet one must at all events sigh: ‘Well, you certainly can’t please everybody’. If what the four gentlemen with the strings sat up there playing is to be taken in deadly earnest for good, beautiful music, then Messrs. Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Schumann and consorts – Wagner and Tchaikovsky too – the whole gang, including our own with Hartmann and Gade at their head – have all been pulling the wool over our eyes, indeed using misleading trade descriptions. And sciatica is a musical pleasure. For that too is very unpleasant.

Am I too jocular? – Well, the last movement of the quartet itself had the designation ‘molto scherzoso’ – and in fact it is a great question whether this was not all a jolly prank from Carl Nielsen, to see how far he could go – and still keep the cognoscenti on board.”¹⁵⁸

The København reviewer, on the other hand, thought that in the quartet Carl Nielsen had achieved clarity as an artist:

“Over the past few years it seems that Mr. Carl Nielsen has had both his soul and his ears charged up with what he previously lacked. He no longer paints grey on grey, his musical physiog-

Forhold til det anvendte Arbejde og den opbudte Kontrapunkt-Opfindsomhed.”¹⁵⁵ Dannebrog fremhævede Carl Niensens “sædvanlige Omhyggelighed i Udarbejdelsen” af strygekvartetten og fortsatte:

“Mest Sving og Flugt var der i Kvartetens to sidste Stykker. De to første var knastørre. Indre Varme, Sang og dybere Musik-indhold maatte man desværre savne i den nye Komposition. Men i Allegrettoen var der en vis fornem Kølighed og Ynde, som det ikke er alle og enhvers Sag at frembringe.”¹⁵⁶

Den mest udførlige omtale stod at læse i Politiken, hvor anmelderen Charles Kjerulf¹⁵⁷ bestemt ikke brød sig om kvartetten:

“Det første Numer paa Programmet var en ny Strygekvartet i F-Dur, med Betegnelsen ‘Piacvolezza’. Til Overflod havde første Sats som Tempo-Betegnelser ‘Allegro piacevole ed indolente.’ Enten nu Komponisten vil have Etiketten opfattet som ‘behagelig’ eller ‘efter Behag’, saa maatte man efter at have hørt Kvartetten i hvert Fald sukke: ‘Ja, Smag og Behag er forskellig’. Hvis det, som de fire Herrer Strygere sad deroppe og spillede, for ramme Alvor skal opfattes som skøn og god Musik, ja, saa har de Herrer Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Schumann og Konsorter – Wagner og Tschaikowsky med – hele Banden, ogsaa vore egne med Hartmann og Gade i Spidsen – saa har de alle sammen taget os ved Næsen, ja, brugt falsk Varebetegnelse. Og saa er Ischias en Musiknydelse. For det er ogsaa meget ubehageligt.

Er det for spøgefuldt? – Naa, sidste Sats i Kvartetten havde selv Betegnelsen ‘molto scherzoso’ – og det er saamænd et stort Spørgsmaal, om ikke det hele var en munter Spøg af Carl Nielsen, for at se, hvor vidt han kunde gaa – og dog faa sine Pappenheimere med sig.”¹⁵⁸

Københavns anmelder mente derimod, at Carl Nielsen i kvartetten havde opnået en afklaring som kunstner:

“Paa de sidste Aaringer synes det, som Hr. Carl Nielsen har faaet baade Sjæl og Øren opladte for, hvad der tidligere manglede ham. Han maler ikke længere graat i graat, det musikalske mony has become milder – and in addition the artist reveals a wonderful talent that is nowadays very rare in music: high spirits, liberating humour [...] listen for example to Carl Nielsen's string quartet in F major, which was performed for the first time yesterday evening! It is as if the composer has sloughed off his cocoon and flutters around like a graceful butterfly, a giddy dragonfly. Joyful and straightforward, he gambols in the delightful Allegretto (which incidentally had to be repeated) and in the last bubbling Finale. And yet as the mature artist who knows how to use all the difficult technical resources.”¹⁵⁹

Despite the fact that the quartet saw many performances in the subsequent years,¹⁶⁰ sixteen years were to pass before it was printed. As late as 1922 Carl Nielsen took stock in a letter to his wife of the number of unprinted compositions he had lying, and these included the quartet:

“Circumstances are in fact such now in the world that there is hardly any call for art. Now I have a whole stack of works lying that I am unlikely to get printed, and even less to be paid for. 1) a symphony, 2) a string quartet, 3) a wind quintet, 4) the music for “Aladdin” 5) choral pieces, 6) “Pan and Syrinx” etc. Don't you think that's depressing?”¹⁶¹

However, the German publisher C.F. Peters in Leipzig was interested in publishing it, and it can be seen from Carl Nielsen's correspondence with the publisher¹⁶² that in the summer of 1923 he was reading proofs of the printed music which was published in September 1923 in both parts and a study score. The quartet was dedicated to the Breuning-Bache Quartet (Kopenhagener Streichquartett), which had it in its repertoire and helped to make it known beyond the borders of Denmark. In connection with the publication the quartet was given the opus number 44, but it no longer had the title under which it was given its first performance: Piacevolezza.

Fysiognomi er blevet mildere – og saa aabenbarer Kunstneren dertil en herlig Evne, som nu til Dags er saare sjælden i Musik: Lunet, den befriende Humor, [...] hør f. Eks. Carl Niensens Strygekvartet i F-Dur, som opførtes for første Gang i Aftes! Det er som Komponisten har strøget Puppessvøbet af sig og tumlede om som en graciøs Sommerfugl, en forfløjen Guldsmed. Munter og ligetil boltrer han sig i den henrivende Allegretto (som i øvrigt maatte gentages) og i den sidste sprudlende Finale. Og alligevel som den modne Kunstner, der kender alle Teknikens vanskelige Virkemidler.”¹⁵⁹

Til trods for at kvartetten i de følgende år opnåede mange opførelser,¹⁶⁰ kom der til at gå 16 år, før den blev trykt. Så sent som i 1922 havde Carl Nielsen i et brev til sin hustru gjort status over mængden af utrykte kompositioner, han havde liggende, og heriblandt var kvartetten:

“Forholdene er jo faktisk nu saadanne i Verden at der næsten ingen Brug er for Kunst. Nu har jeg liggende en hel Stabel Arbejder som jeg neppe kan faa trykt og endnu mindre faa Betaling for. 1) En Symfoni, 2) en Strygekvartet, 3) en Blæserkvintet, 4) Musikken til “Aladdin” 5) Korstykker, 6) “Pan og Syrinx” o.s.v. Synes Du ikke det er nedstemmende?”¹⁶¹

Det tyske forlag C.F. Peters i Leipzig blev imidlertid interesseret i at udgive den, og af Carl Niensens korrespondance med forlaget¹⁶² fremgår, at han i sommeren 1923 læste korrektur på de trykte noder, der i september 1923 blev udgivet i såvel stemmer som studiepartitur. Kvartetten blev tilegnet Breuning-Bache Kvartetten (Kopenhagener Streichquartett), som havde den på sit repertoire og medvirkede til at gøre den kendt også uden for landets grænser. I forbindelse med udgivelsen fik kvartetten opusnummeret 44, men den havde ikke længere det tilnavn, hvorunder den blev uropført: Piacevolezza.

There are indications that Carl Nielsen revised the quartet several times. The first revision apparently took place between the writing of the manuscript in 1906 (Sources D, E) and the first public performance in November 1907. Since no set of parts has been preserved that is known with certainty to have been used for this performance, the revision cannot be demonstrated in the music sources themselves, only by comparing the movement titles, which for each performance have been taken from the concert programme.

In the table below the first and last columns are based on the music, while the columns in between are based on the concert programmes.

It can be seen from a comparison of the first and second column of the table that the movement titles were changed, and that in this process the Allegro movement was given the character designation piacevole ed indolente, which explains why the quartet originally had the by-name Piacevolezza. Another revision can be seen in the second movement, where the tempo was originally conceived as a modified Andante, but was later changed to Adagio, pesante e religioso. From the third column it appears that as early as 9th January 1909 the quartet was performed with the changed movement titles with which it was printed (these can be seen in the sixth column). There must thus have been a further revision of the work between 1907 and January 1909. Against this background

Der er tegn på, at Carl Nielsen reviderede kvartetten flere gange. Den første revision fandt tilsyneladende sted mellem tilblivelsen af manuskriptet i 1906 (kilde D, E) og den første offentlige opførelse i november 1907. Da der ikke er bevaret et stemmesæt, der med sikkerhed vides at have været brugt ved denne opførelse, lader revisionen sig ikke påvise i nodeteksten men kun ved sammenligning af satstitlerne, der for opførelsens vedkommende er udledt af det trykte koncertprogram.

I nedenstående skema bygger første og sidste kolonne på nodetekst, mens de mellemliggende kolonner bygger på koncertprogrammer.

Af skemaet fremgår det ved sammenligning af første og anden kolonne, at satstitlerne blev ændret, og at Allegro-satsen i denne proces fik tilføjet karakterbetegnelsen piacevole ed indolente, hvilket forklarer, hvorfor kvartetten oprindeligt fik tilnavnet Piacevolezza. En anden revision ses i anden sats, hvor tempoet oprindeligt var tænkt som et modificeret Andante, men senere blev ændret til Adagio, pesante et religioso. Af tredje kolonne fremgår det, at kvartetten allerede den 9. januar 1909 blev opført med de ændrede satstitler, hvormed den blev trykt (disse ses i sjette kolonne). Der må således være foretaget yderligere en revision af værket mellem 1907 og januar 1909. På denne baggrund kan det undre, at kvartetten i april 1909 blev opført under de "gamle" satstitler (sammenlign fjerde med it may seem surprising that in April 1909 the quartet was performed with the 'old' movement titles (compare the fourth with the second column).¹⁶³ Note that on this occasion the quartet was performed under the opus number "24". That it was performed three years later as "Op. 19" (cf. fifth column) and on publication was called "Op. 44" emphasizes that in Carl Nielsen's work the opus numbers do not always reflect the chronology of the works. Incidentally a note in Source C (the viola part) shows that this set of parts was used for a performance in Østerbro Chamber Music society in 1912 and for performances in the Chamber Music Society and the Private Chamber Music Society in 1913.¹⁶⁴

Since Source C formed the printing manuscript for the printed parts and the study score (A, B), the next revision that Carl Nielsen gave the quartet can be documented on the basis of the music. But it is uncertain when the revision in question took place.

In January 1919 the F major quartet was played at the painter Harald Giersing's and the sculptor Johannes Clausen Bjerg's exhibition at Den Frie Udstilling in Copenhagen. On this occasion Carl Nielsen was interviewed for the weekly magazine Hver 8. Dag, to which he said that the quartet had still not yet been printed, "because I am still making some changes in it."¹⁶⁵ Three months later when the quartet was played at Carl Nielsen's and Emil Telmányi's chamber music evening, it was stated in the programme that it was played after the "manuscript." This has been interpreted to mean that the quartet was performed on this occasion in a new, revised version,¹⁶⁶ but it could just as well mean that the quartet was still not available in printed form.

The revision that can be demonstrated in the music (Source C), and which must thus have been done between 1919 and 1922, involves a very radical intervention in the final movement:

163 On the basis of the movement titles in the concert programme Torben Meyer & Frede Schandorf Petersen, op. cit., vol. 1, p. 63, state that it was Carl Nielsen's early quartet in F major (composed c. 1887) that was played in Kammermusikforeningen on 9.1.1909 and 21.4.1913, and not – as seems more likely – this late F major quartet.

164 Note by the musician Louis Witzansky in the viola part in Source C.

165 Quoted from John Fellow, op. cit., p. 235.

166 In Carl Nielsen. Kompositioner. En bibliografi ved Dan Fog i samarbejde med Torben Schousboe, Copenhagen, 1965, p. 15, it is stated that the quartet was "reworked and performed in the printed form on 27.III.1919"; the same view is expressed in Ludvig Dolleris, Carl Nielsen. En musikografi, Odense 1949, p. 139. This does not accord with the above.

anden kolonne).¹⁶³ Bemærk, at kvartetten ved denne lejlighed blev opført under opusnummeret "24". At den tre år efter opførtes som "Op. 19" (jf. femte kolonne) og ved udgivelsen benævntes "Op. 44" understreger, at opusnumre hos Carl Nielsen ikke altid afspejler værkernes kronologi. I øvrigt viser en tilskrift i kilde C (violastemmen), at dette stemmesæt blev benyttet ved en opførelse i Østerbro Kammermusikforening i 1912 og ved opførelser i Kammermusikforeningen og Privat Kammermusikforening i 1913.¹⁶⁴

Da kilde C har udgjort trykforlægget for de trykte stemmer og studiepartituret (A, B), lader den næste revision, som Carl Nielsen underkastede kvartetten, sig dokumentere på grundlag af nodeteksten. Men det er usikkert, hvornår den pågældende revision fandt sted.

I januar 1919 blev F-dur kvartetten spillet ved maleren Harald Giersings og billedhuggeren Johannes Clausen Bjergs udstilling i Den Frie Udstillings bygning i København. Carl Nielsen blev i denne anledning interviewet til ugebladet Hver 8. Dag, hvortil han udtalte, at kvartetten endnu ikke var trykt, "fordi jeg stadig gør nogen Forandring i den."¹⁶⁵ Da kvartetten tre måneder senere blev spillet ved Carl Niensens og Emil Telmányis kammermusikaften, blev det i programmet anført, at den blev spillet efter "Manuskript". Det er blevet udlagt, som om kvartetten ved denne lejlighed blev opført i en nyrevideret skikkelse,¹⁶⁶ men det kan dog lige så godt betyde, at kvartetten endnu forelå utrykt.

Den revision, der lader sig påvise i nodeteksten (kilde C), og som altså må være udført mellem 1919 og 1922, omfatter et ganske drastisk indgreb i finalesatsen, idet Carl Nielsen

163 På grundlag af sats titlerne i koncertprogrammet anfører Torben Meyer og Frede Schandorf Petersen, op. cit., bd. 1, s. 63, at det var Carl Niensens tidlige kvartet i F-dur (komponeret ca. 1887), der blev spillet i Kammermusikforeningen 9.1.1909 og 21.4.1913, og ikke – som det virker mere sandsynligt – denne sene F-dur kvartet.

166 I Carl Nielsen. Kompositioner. En bibliografi ved Dan Fog i samarbejde med Torben Schousboe, København, 1965, s. 15, siges det, at kvartetten blev "omarbejdet og opført i den trykte skikkelse 27.III.1919"; samme opfattelse kommer til udtryk i Ludvig Dolleris, Carl Nielsen. En musikografi, Odense 1949, s. 139. Dette stemmer således ikke overens med ovenstående.

Nielsen crossed out a passage after b. 101 (c. four bars) originally leading back to a repetition of the exposition. Ludvig Dolleris claims that Nielsen was dissatisfied with the end of the quartet and therefore composed a new one, but all the same he had it printed with the original ending.¹⁶⁷ However, it has not been possible to locate such an alternative ending, and the quartet is therefore published here in the form in which it appears in the printed edition (A, B).

The manuscript sources preserved for the F major quartet are a sketch for the first movement (F), a pencil draft for all four movements (D, E) and a set of non-autograph parts (C). The parts formed the basis for the printed parts (A) which were published in 1923, but it is not known whether the study score published the same year (B) was printed on the basis of the parts or was produced from a possible ink fair copy of the score which is, however, not known today. The point of departure used for the edition is the printed parts (A), complemented with B.

QUINTET FOR TWO VIOLINS, TWO VIOLAS AND CELLO

In 1886 Nielsen finished his studies at the Copenhagen Conservatory, but he continued to take lessons in composition from Orla Rosenhoff. In 1888, while he was still studying with him, he composed the Suite for String Orchestra, opus 1. With this work, which was given its first performance in Tivoli on 8th September to the great enthusiasm of audience and critics, his name had been made as a young, talented, promising composer. Immediately afterwards he started composing the Quintet for Strings in G major.

In the years 1887-1890 Carl Nielsen was in love with the eight years younger Emilie Demant Hatt, the niece of his foster-parents in Copenhagen, Jens and Marie Demant Nielsen. According to her memoirs, Foraarsbølger, Erindringer om Carl Nielsen and its background documents¹⁶⁸ – among other things a notebook with datings of a number of Nielsen's compositions – the second movement was concluded on 3rd October, the third movement on 12th November 1888 and finally the fourth movement on 1st January 1889.

¹⁶⁸ Emilie Demant Hatt, op. cit., pp. 90ff.

overstregede en passage efter t. 101 (ca. 4 takter), der skulle føre tilbage til en repetition af ekspositionsdelen. Ludvig Dolleris hævder, at Carl Nielsen var utilfreds med kvartetens slutning og derfor komponerede en ny, men alligevel lod den trykke med den oprindelige slutning.¹⁶⁷ Det har imidlertid ikke været muligt at lokalisere en sådan alternativ slutning, og kvartetten udgives derfor i den skikkelse, hvori den fremtræder i den trykte udgave (A, B).

Af håndskrevne kilder til F-dur kvartetten er der bevaret en skitse til første sats (F), blyantskladde til alle fire satser (D, E) samt et sæt ikke-autografe stemmer, (C). Stemmerne ligger til grund for de trykte stemmer, (A), der blev udgivet i 1923, mens det er uvist om det samme år udgivne studiepartitur, (B), blev trykt på grundlag af stemmerne, eller om det blev fremstillet ud fra en eventuel blækrenskrift af partituret, der dog i dag ikke kendes. Som udgangspunkt for udgaven er benyttet de trykte stemmer, (A), der er kompletteret med B.

KVINTET FOR TO VIOLINER, TO BRATSCHER OG CELLO

I 1886 afsluttede Carl Nielsen sine studier på Københavns Konservatorium, men han fortsatte med at modtage undervisning i komposition hos Orla Rosenhoff. Mens han endnu studerede hos ham, komponerede han i 1888 Suite for Strygeorkester, opus 1. Med dette værk, som blev uropført i Tivoli den 8. september til stor begejstring for publikum og kritikere, var hans navn som ung talentfuld, lovende komponist slået fast. Umiddelbart efter gik han i gang med at komponere Kvintetten for strygere i G-dur.

I årene 1887-1890 var Carl Nielsen forelsket i den 8 år yngre Emilie Demant Hatt, niece til hans plejefædre i København, Jens og Marie Demant Nielsen. Ifølge hendes erindringer, Foraarsbølger, Erindringer om Carl Nielsen og dertil hørende bilag¹⁶⁸ – blandt andet en notesbog med dateringer af en række af Carl Niensens kompositioner – blev anden sats afsluttet den 3. oktober, tredje sats den 12. november 1888 og endelig fjerde sats 1. januar 1889.

CRITICAL COMMENTARY

In the Critical Commentary the following conventions are used:

- 1 “by analogy with” is used when something has been “added”, “emended” or “omitted” by analogy with another passage in the main source. The analogy may be vertical. When something is added “by analogy with” one or more instruments, it is understood that the analogy is with the same place in the same bar(s). Or it may be horizontal. When something is added “by analogy with” one or more bars, it is understood that the analogy is with a parallel place in the same instrument(s).
- 2 “as in” is used when something is “added”, “emended” or “omitted” to correspond to the same place in another source.
- 3 “in accordance with” is used in cases where there is no authoritative source, only a guideline – for example printed part material.

In the bar number column, the symbol “+” is used to indicate an upbeat to the bar in question.

The earliest fragmentary sources for the Quartet opus 14 are to be found in Carl Nielsen's sketchbook (D). After these come the draft (C), which also contains many sketches, especially for the fourth movement. The draft (C) is complete and represents the only complete source in Carl Nielsen's own hand. The printing manuscript was probably lost in connection with the printing; Carl Nielsen lost an earlier fair copy of the third and fourth movement in 1900.¹¹ The printed score (A) has been chosen as the main source, since it is the last complete source approved by Carl Nielsen. The parts (B) did appear a few years later, but since the printing manuscripts are not known, and since, given the available information, we cannot know whether Carl Nielsen read proofs of these, they cannot be used as a main source. The incomplete four-handed piano score (F), which was written out by Henrik Knudsen from an unknown original or drawn up from the draft, and the fragmentary cello part (E) with four different phrases in the first movement written out on the basis of the draft, or the lost printing manuscript, have had no significance for the edition. This is equally true of the score (G) and parts (H) published after 1925 as a reprint of the music but with no title page.

The editorial work has mainly consisted of completions of dynamics and articulation. We have attempted to solve the problems on the premises of the main source itself, while the parts (B) and the draft (C) have been used as guidelines. Important variants in the draft and parts have been included in the List of emendations and alternative readings.
