Allegro con spirito

The musical score is written for a solo piano arrangement of a two-piano sonata. It is in G major (one sharp) and 2/4 time. The tempo is marked 'Allegro con spirito'. The score consists of 13 measures. The first system (measures 1-5) begins with a forte (f) dynamic. It features a trill in the right hand and a triplet in the left hand. The second system (measures 6-8) continues with a trill in the right hand and a triplet in the left hand. The third system (measures 9-10) shows a trill in the right hand and a triplet in the left hand. The fourth system (measures 11-12) features a trill in the right hand and a triplet in the left hand. The fifth system (measures 13-14) shows a trill in the right hand and a triplet in the left hand. Dynamic markings include f, mf, and mp. Articulation marks include trills and slurs.

* These dynamic indications are not written in the original piece.

They serve to differentiate the primo and secondo part and create a feel of distance like from a second piano.

* The D1 does not appear in the original score.

It is however logical given the expanded range of contemporary pianos compared to fortepianos and the comparison with bar 80. (the D1 was likely outside the range of fortepianos Mozart had access to.

Adding it increases the coda's triumphant concluding character. The subtler original is of course a valid option in any case.)
