The British Museum Library Catalogue, 1851, is a list of the books in the collection of the British Museum, London. It is the first of a series of catalogues published by the Museum, and is the most complete and accurate list of the books in the collection. The catalogue is arranged in alphabetical order of the authors' names, and is divided into two parts, one for the books in the collection of the Museum, and one for the books in the collection of the British Museum Library. The first part of the catalogue is the most important, as it contains the names of the authors of the books in the collection of the Museum, and the titles of the books. The second part of the catalogue is a list of the books in the collection of the British Museum Library, and is arranged in alphabetical order of the titles of the books.
